Dulles Reports Big 3 Conflicts In Suez Dispute

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there "is some difference" with Britain and France on the Suez Canal dispute—but two hours later he rewrote his news conference record to strike this out.

In reply to a newsmen, Dulles said the differences stemmed from an American desire to play "a somewhat independent role" in dealing with anticommunist nations. Later, after editing his news conference transcript, he authorized a spokesman to report he meant to say "there has been some difference."

Dulles also toned down his earlier remarks that these differences involved "fundamental things" such as the American desire to encourage newly independent nations toward nonviolent development.

Might Offend Ministers

Press officer Lincoln White, who told reporters of the changed answers, declined to say whether the differences which Dulles first spoke about had been somehow resolved in the intervening two hours.

It seemed more likely that Dulles changed his remarks for fear of offending British and French foreign ministers with whom he plans to meet in New York Friday. However, in his revised answer, Dulles acknowledged that the American view toward the problem of colonialism in Asia and Africa is "not always identical" with that of Britain and France. "Now, there the United States plays a somewhat independent role," he said.

No "Teeth" In Association

"I suspect that the United States will find that its role, not only today but in the coming years, will be to try to aid that process (of orderly independence) without identifying itself 100 per cent either with the so-called colonial powers or with the powers which are primarily and uniquely concerned with the problem of getting their independence as rapidly as possible."

Talking to reporters, Dulles also indirectly replied to critics who have said that the Suez Canal Users Assn. which he sponsored has had its teeth pulled.

"There is talk about the teeth being pulled out it," he said. "There were never teeth in it, if that means the use of force."

Fired Health Officer Receives Job Offers

MADISON, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—Dr. Deborah Coggins, 32, who has been fired as health officer of two Florida counties for having a business lunch with a Negro nurse, reported today she has received job offers from California and Pennsylvania.

"I think it's pleasant to know I could work somewhere else," she said. However, she plans to go into private practice in Madison.

Her husband, Dr. Wilmer Coggins, also a physician, practices here.

Dr. Coggins reported she has been offered a job as Shasta county, Calif., health officer at $8,940 a year. She got $8,100 as health officer of Jefferson, Madison and Taylor counties in Florida.

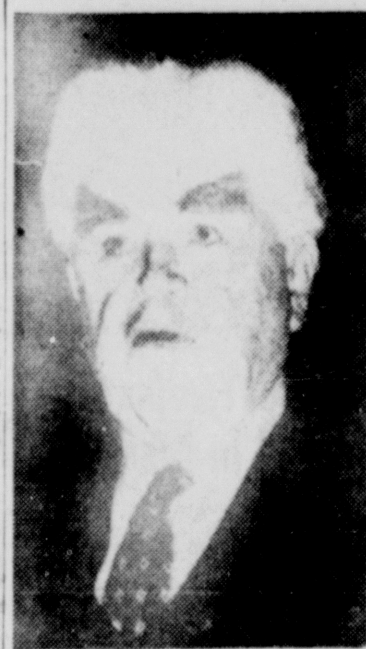

Another offer has come from the Allegheny County Health Department in Pittsburgh, Pa., which told Dr. Coggins it operates "without discrimination."

Soviet Visit Planned

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 2 (AP)—Syrian President Shukri Kuwattly will pay a state visit to the Soviet Union at the end of this month, presidential palace sources said today.

DIDN'T SAY MUCH—Usually loquacious, roaring John L. Lewis, (above), who at past conventions has castigated those he called "the high and the mighty," was the epitome of self-restraint yesterday as he told the United Mine Workers delegates the outlook in the coal fields is rosy and atomic energy is a long way off because of its enormous cost. Britain's Labor Party Elevates Aneurin Bevan

BLACKPOOL, England, Oct. 2 (AP)—Britain's Labor party today elevated Aneurin Bevan, a fiery critic of U. S. foreign policy, to a challenging position.

Delegates to the annual conference elected the 58-year-old former Welsh coal miner to the party's third ranking job of treasurer behind two moderates—Leader Hugh Gaitskell and his deputy, Jim Griffiths.

Flushed with victory, Bevan gave the impression that he has set his sights on becoming prime minister.

Snap Election Possible

The next British general election ordinarily would come in 1960 in the event the Eden Conservative government runs out its full term.

But under the British system, there's always a chance for a snap election before then—either through the overthrow of the government by losing a major issue in Parliament or the government simply resigning and going to the electorate for a vote of confidence.

A Labor victory in the next election would automatically make the party leader the prime minister.

This was the significance behind the victory of Bevan in winning the post of party treasurer by 3,029,000 votes to 2,755,000 for moderate George Brown, a former works minister.

Comeback For Bevan

The delegates cast ballots representing the total membership of their organizations, thus accounting for the large number of votes. For Bevan it marked a comeback after three years in the political wilderness.

In his new post, Bevan again becomes a member of his party's powerful policy-making National Executive Committee. His victory underscored the shift to the left of the Labor movement away from the middle-of-the-road policies of E. A. Attlee, a former prime minister.

Candidate For President Settles For Bleacher Seat

SECAUCUS, N.J., Oct. 2 (AP)—Like Henry Krajewski always says, it ain't easy running for president as an independent.

Not only can't an independent get equal time with President Eisenhower and former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson on television, he's lucky to get a seat in the bleachers for the World Series.

Now with the President going to Ebbets Field on Wednesday and Stevenson to Yankee Stadium on Friday, Krajewski felt he ought to get equal box space.

However, as the poor man's candidate for president, he was willing to settle for a couple of seats in the bleachers.

The Dodgers, always dressed snobbishly in cartoons, thought that was fair enough. They sent Krajewski a ticket.

Officers Seeking Man For Beating Wife Find Bodies

CLINTON, N.C., Oct. 2 (AP)—A 35-year-old tenant farmer, sought on a charge of beating his wife, today shot and battered his six children to death, then fired a shotgun charge between his eyes and dropped dead on a cowpath near his home.

His bloody outbreak left only the mother, absent from home, to mourn.

The coroner ruled murder and suicide.

Officers seeking to serve a warrant charging assault on Rufus A. King, received no response to their knocks at the farmhouse door and peered into windows. They saw the children's bodies sprawled over floors of two rooms of the six-room farmhouse.

Dogs Find Father's Body

Four hours later police bloodhounds led officers to the father's body in a nearby woods. His .410 gauge shotgun lay nearby.

Robert Tyndall, Mrs. King's brother, said King brought his wife to the Tyndall home near here early today and that she told him, "Rufus won't let me see the children and he beat me." Tyndall said his brother, Otis Tyndall, signed the warrant charging King with assault.

Mrs. King spent the remainder of the night at her brother's home in this eastern North Carolina farming center, 60 miles southeast of Raleigh.

Neighbors saw some of the older children playing in their yard just before time for the school bus to arrive. When the school bus arrived, the driver tooted the horn, waited a bit, then drove on without the King children.

Children Shot, Bludgeoned

Deputy Sheriff Ira Hatch theorized the children were slain between 7 and 8 a.m.

Sampson County Coroner Coleman Carter said all of the children were shot at least once in the head with a rifle, and were bludgeoned with the butt of the rifle or with an axe. Susan King, 2, lay in her bed. The others were on the floor.

Carter said part of the stock of a repeating rifle was found in the kitchen and the rest of the weapon was in another room. He said all of the children had compound fractures of the head.

"It was the most horrible sight I have ever seen," Carter declared.

$18,878 Found Hidden In Shack

FRESNO, Calif., Oct. 2 (AP)—Authorities counted $18,878 today out of a garbage can they used to haul away money found hidden in a two-room Fresno home where the John Domke family lived in near poverty.

The money, some of it in gold coins, was discovered yesterday after authorities removed the body of John Domke, 87, from a bed where he had lain dead for eight days.

The widow, Mary, 78, was taken to Fresno General Hospital for observation on court orders. The son, Albert, 52, was jailed on charges of resisting officers. They said he put up a battle when they took his mother away.

Paper bills sticking out of a lard can led to the search. Money was found secreted in scattered receptacles and was dumped into the garbage can for transportation to a bank.

Corporations Make Record Sales, Profits

Employment Firm, Consumer Demand At All-Time Peak

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—American manufacturers rang up record sales and profits in the first half of this year and headed into the fall with employment near record levels and consumer demand for goods at an all time high.

These developments were reported today by government agencies, which said:

Manufacturing corporations sold a record 146 billion dollars worth of goods in the first six months of this year—nearly 10 billions more than in the first half of 1955 when the business boom was gathering force.

Profits Up 9 Per Cent

Their profits from these sales reached a new high of nearly eight billion dollars after federal taxes, a gain of 9 per cent over the first six months a year ago.

Employment in the U. S. was down on a seasonal basis by 700,000 in September but was still close to the record of 66,732,000 set in August. The drop to 66,071,000 was attributed solely to the return of students to school. The number of adult workers remained steady. The number of jobless also declined by about 200,000 last month to slightly below two million. This was one of the lowest unemployment totals recorded in the last three years.

Consumer Debt Rises

Consumer-time payment debt, indicating a continued high demand for goods, rose by another 324 million dollars in August to a record $29,427,000,000. The Federal Reserve Board said also that consumer credit—including such non-interest debt as charge accounts and single payments loans—stood at a record $37,503,000,000 at the end of August.

The board's report showed increases for all major types of time credit, with automobiles leading the way as usual. Auto debt rose by 153 million dollars in August and personal loans went up by 89 millions.

Installment debt was about 34 billion dollars above August a year ago. But the board said it has indications of a slowing up in the rate at which credit has been increasing.

Ship Grounded In Suez Canal

PORT SAID, Egypt, Oct. 2 (AP)—The 2,270-ton British freighter Hendrik ran aground in the Suez Canal today. It was the first grounding since Egyptian pilots took over Sept. 15.

A tug brought the Hendrik off a mudbank 30 miles south of Port Said. But the freighter and the rest of a southbound convoy of 14 ships was delayed a half hour.

Another British ship, the 12,723-ton tanker Scottstown, was towed into Lake Timsah near the center of the canal after developing steering trouble yesterday.

These two events, plus the fact that a northbound convoy had to wait longer than usual for the southbound convoy to pass, put operations in the canal about four hours behind schedule.

The Hendrik ran aground in a straight section of the canal. An Egyptian canal administration official said the incident was common, due to sudden gusts of wind and unexpected currents.

The official attached no blame to the Egyptian pilot at the wheel. Veteran pilots said, however, a part of the pilot's job is to be able to counter the effects of wind and to know where to expect currents.

Explosion At Rocket Firm Kills Engineer

MENTONE, Calif., Oct. 2 (AP)—An engineer was killed and a technician was burned severely in a fire and explosion today at the Grand Central Rocket Co.

The explosion, heard five miles away, was the second in three months. Last July 7 a similar accident killed a company scientist. Nearly all work done by the company is classified, but it recently announced it was making and testing a solid fuel for Project Vanguard the earth satellite-launching program.

A company spokesman said the explosion did not involve the satellite propellant. He identified the dead man as Maurice Henry Shaffer, 41, Beaumont, Calif., a process engineer.

Where Six Children Slain

A large crowd gathered around the home of Rufus King, Clinton, N. C., who yesterday killed his six children. Their bodies were found in bedrooms (rear, right). A posse led by bloodhounds found King's body 500 yards from his home. He had killed himself. (AP Photofax)

D.C. Integration Probe Attacked By Two Groups

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Two new attacks developed today against the way a special House subcommittee went about investigating the racial integration of Washington's public schools.

The congressional inquiry, conducted mostly by Southerners, was called "slanted," "phony" and "outrageous" by the protesting groups.

Rep. Abbott (D-Va.), on the other hand, commended the subcommittee "for the splendid manner in which the hearings were conducted."

Abbott called integration here a "disaster" and said "We now know what integration has done to the children as well as the schools of the District of Columbia."

AVC Assails Inquiry

But the American Veterans Committee, claiming a membership of about 25,000 "liberal" veterans, said the investigation "was carefully and willfully planned to subvert the process of integration of the nation's public schools."

In another protest, the Washington chapter of Americans for Democratic Action asserted that even before the hearings began "it was obvious that the committee was determined to scavenge a record of failures and horror stories about desegregation in Washington that could be used to frighten little children and their parents throughout the South into defiance of the law."

Hearings Adjourned

Chairman James C. Davis (D-Ga.) and other active members of the subcommittee could not be reached immediately for comment on the AVC and ADA statements. Davis adjourned the hearings yesterday and it is uncertain whether they will be resumed.

One of the three Negro members of the House, Rep. William L. Dawson (D-Ill.), charged yesterday the inquiry was "illegal" because he said the subcommittee didn't have "the indispensable permission" of the House to sit when the House was not in session.

Decline In Housing Starts Seen In 1957

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—A score of leading homebuilders today predicted housing starts will fall below one million in 1957. Some foresaw as few as 800,000 "if money conditions stay as they are."

Officers and directors of the National Assn. of Homebuilders made the predictions after a closed morning meeting with a dozen government officials.

The "tight money policy," and its effect in drying up mortgage credit, were blamed by almost all the builders. One Carl T. Mitnick of Merchantville, N.J., told a mass news conference:

"Many builders in our section have just quit. We're waiting to see if this administration is going to do anything to help us."

Grandma, Plump And 81, To Seek Husband In U. S.

NAPLES, Italy, Oct. 2 (AP)—Grandma Nicolina Petrozzo, 81, a bouncing, toothless 250-pounder, sailed for New York tonight in search of a husband.

"I'm a very strong girl—and I have great love for this life," she chuckled happily as she puffed up the gangplank of the liner Olympia.

"I'm going to have a good look around for a husband who likes me."

Mrs. Petrozzo emigrated to the United States in 1906 but returned to Italy in 1921. Now she will have 21 sons and grandchildren to meet her at the pier in New York. She will stay with her daughter, Mrs. Alfonsina Carracas, Brooklyn.

The husband-hunting grandma told reporters she had to return to Italy because her husband's health was failing. He is dead now and there's no one left in the little village of Avelino for Nicolina to look after—or to look after her.

Tito Given Red Association Bid

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Russia's Nikita S. Khrushchev was reported tonight to have asked President Tito of Yugoslavia to join a new Cominform-type association of European Communist countries.

Western diplomats said Yugoslav representatives have let it be known that this was a main purpose of the Soviet Communist party chief's surprise visit with Tito at his Brioni retreat late last month.

Khrushchev was said to have received a negative or perhaps inconclusive response from Tito.

Tito's independence in the past has had the effect of undermining Soviet leadership somewhat in East Europe.

The issues raised by Khrushchev in the Brioni talks were reported to have centered on difficulties and dangers that could arise in East Europe (presumably along the lines of the bread riots at Poznan, Poland, in June) through the more liberal policies that have followed the Kremlin's downgrading of Stalin.

Boat Sinks, 60 Missing

KARACHI, Pakistan, Oct. 2 (AP)—A river ferryboat capsized last night near Khulna, east Pakistan, and 60 of the 80 passengers today were reported missing and believed drowned. Reports reaching here said 20 were rescued.

Daring "Golf Tee" Heart Surgery Saves Man's Life

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—A new and ingenious "golf tee" operation inside the human heart has saved the life of a Washington state man, surgeons at the National Heart Institute disclosed today.

Norman Hickey, 28, of Richland, Wash., is the first human to undergo the surgery.

The daring operation involved using a spongy plastic plug—shaped like a golf tee but bigger—to close up a small tunnel Hickey had developed between the base of his aorta, the big blood pipeline from the heart, and one of the heart's main chambers.

The material used to make the "tee" is the same as that in sponges used by some housewives for washing dishes.

Stalin Military Role Under New Soviet Assault

MOSCOW, Oct. 2 (AP)—Soviet newspapers today published a new attack on Stalin's role as a military leader.

(The new attack on Stalin took on particular significance in the light of the current meeting at Yalta between Communist chief N. S. Khrushchev and President Tito of Yugoslavia, who was the butt of Stalin's wrath from 1948 until the Soviet dictator's death. The Russians seem to be making extraordinary efforts to placate the Yugoslav Communist leader. There also has been speculation that the Yugoslav-Soviet meeting indicated a split in Kremlin ranks.)

Several Moscow newspapers agreed Stalin failed to shine as a military commander as far back as 1918 and that historians also credited him with a greater role in the Russian Revolution than he actually played.

The Soviet army newspaper Red Star said historians mistakenly had given primary importance to the southern front during the civil war which followed the Russian Revolution.

"The activities of J. V. Stalin on this sector were evaluated as decisive," the army paper said. "Actually the southern front at that time was of secondary importance . . . the eastern front was the most important one. It was there the fate of the young Soviet state really was decided. It was Lenin who first recognized the threat of international imperialism on the eastern front. Lenin personally supervised the strengthening of the eastern front as well as other fronts."

The paper said it was not until 1913, when Britain, France and the United States prepared for intervention in the Black Sea area, that the southern front became important.

Stevenson, campaigning over a large part of New Jersey, suggested in a speech at Teaneck that Eisenhower should "take the leadership" in a move to ban hydrogen bomb tests. He suggested Russia would be willing to go along.

"It is a step that can be safely taken," Stevenson said, "for no one can explode a hydrogen bomb in secret, and each would know whether the others were acting in good faith. It would be a step along a new path toward peace."

Stevenson said the Republican party is to represent the economic and social philosophy of the well-to-do and the privileged, of the big corporations, the big interests," Stevenson said.

"This administration has performed that function well. The Republican party is not a fit instrument to govern a nation that wants to make progress for the benefit of the ordinary people."

Stevenson will center his attention on Pennsylvania today. Looking farther ahead, his aides laid plans for an exceptionally big effort Oct. 12 in California. Two governors and two senators—who they will be is yet to be announced—are to help Stevenson in some massive speechmaking that day and night in the Fresno, Long Beach and San Diego areas.

Eisenhower Crack Draws Adlai's Fire

Expanded Campaign Shows Ike 'Scared,' Truman Declares

(By The Associated Press)

President Eisenhower's expanded campaign plans drew a taunt from former President Truman Tuesday that "he's scared." Just as flatly, Vice President Nixon denied that the Republicans are "running scared."

"We're running confident," Nixon said. "We believe we are going to win, but we are not taking anything for granted."

Truman, in New York, and Nixon, in Hartford, Conn., both spoke out a little while before the White House announced in Washington that Eisenhower will make a late October campaign appearance in New York.

It had previously been disclosed Eisenhower would make more speeches than he had originally planned in his campaign for reelection against Democrat Adlai Stevenson.

Stevenson accused Eisenhower, in a talk at Morristown, N. J. Tuesday, of adopting a "pattern of political looseness" and said it was the sort of pattern Nixon had been following.

"Loose Language"

Specifically, Stevenson complained that when Eisenhower accused the Democrats of talking "wicked nonsense" about labor issues, he was using "extreme and loose language."

"It's too bad for democracy when criticism is considered to be evilly inspired," Stevenson said.

Eisenhower's New York date for late this month was disclosed after he talked 45 minutes at the White House with Jacob K. Javits, Republican attorney general in New York and candidate for the U. S. Senate against Democrat Robert Wagner, mayor of New York.

Through press secretary James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower sent out word he "wants and needs Jack Javits in the U. S. Senate . . . sincerely hopes that the people of the State of New York will send him to Washington."

Eisenhower will be making another sort of appearance before New Yorkers today, when he rides through Brooklyn streets in his plastic-topped limousine to throw out the first ball and take in the opening game of the World Series between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

McKeldin Sees President

Other Eisenhower visitors Tuesday included 19 members of the Nationalities Advisory Committee of the Republican National Committee. They wore buttons saying "I like Ike" in 10 languages.

Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, chairman of the Nationalities Committee, told reporters that during the visit Eisenhower commented on what McKeldin spoke of as statements by Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, about the "little people."

McKeldin quoted Eisenhower as saying: "We are one people. They do a great disservice to try to divide us into classes."

Stevenson, campaigning over a large part of New Jersey, suggested in a speech at Teaneck that Eisenhower should "take the leadership" in a move to ban hydrogen bomb tests. He suggested Russia would be willing to go along.

"It is a step that can be safely taken," Stevenson said, "for no one can explode a hydrogen bomb in secret, and each would know whether the others were acting in good faith. It would be a step along a new path toward peace."

GOP Unfit, Adlai Says

In a speech prepared for a Jersey City rally last night, Stevenson said the Republicans were unfit to run the affairs of a nation concerned with needs of ordinary people.

"The historic function of the Republican party is to represent the economic and social philosophy of the well-to-do and the privileged, of the big corporations, the big interests," Stevenson said.

"This administration has performed that function well. The Republican party is not a fit instrument to govern a nation that wants to make progress for the benefit of the ordinary people."

Stevenson will center his attention on Pennsylvania today. Looking farther ahead, his aides laid plans for an exceptionally big effort Oct. 12 in California. Two governors and two senators—who they will be is yet to be announced—are to help Stevenson in some massive speechmaking that day and night in the Fresno, Long Beach and San Diego areas.

Leaders Of UMW See Steadily Expanding Coal Consumption

Industry's Future Described As Rosy

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2 (P)—President John L. Lewis and other United Mine Workers officers today predicted steadily expanding consumption of coal in America to a probable billion tons a year level by 1975.

They pictured a rosy future for the coal industry despite competition from oil, natural gas or even atomic power, in a report at the opening of the UMW convention.

The report said demand for electric power is growing so fast, coal increasingly is being used, and even over oil and gas, to fill energy needs. It said most experts conclude that coal consumption by 1975 will range from 800 million to 1 billion tons a year. This would nearly double expected 1956 production of 525 million tons.

The report minimized any danger from atomic power to the coal industry. It said no substantial atomic power generation is likely to begin until 1965, and it may possibly never become competitive with coal-fired power.

At any rate, the report said, energy requirements are expanding so fast the nation must depend largely upon coal.

Lewis and his fellow UMW officers had criticism for both the Republican and Democratic parties, seeming to hit at the GOP the hardest. Of the Republican party the report said "there is still no place within its ranks for the working men and women of America."

Again condemning the Taft-Hartley labor relations law, the report said "neither the Democrat leadership (in Congress) nor the administration seemed to have any concern for the appeals from labor for relief from his oppressive legislation."

Lewis has said he would probably vote for Democratic nominee Adlai Stevenson but only "as a patriotic duty" because he "could not support Eisenhower." Lewis favored New York Gov. Averell Harriman over Stevenson for the Democratic nomination, saying Stevenson couldn't win.

Of Eisenhower, the report said the President is "responsible directly for the deeds, misdeeds and lack of deeds in his Republican administration. He can no longer bask in the plaudits of the populace as a war hero. . . . His domestic policy was consistent in only one direction. It was and had to be controlled by and for big business."

The union's leadership referred to a rash of recent "wildcat" strikes in coal mines, especially in West Virginia and Kentucky, and said "these unwarranted and unauthorized stoppages must cease." It said grievances must be settled by established procedures and their leaders would be subject to "discipline" and fines, and in serious cases "double penalties."

Somoza Buried; Sons Guarded

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Oct. 2 (P)—President Anastasio Somoza, victim of an assassin, was buried today with Nicaragua's highest honors. Police kept a close guard over the rites to prevent the threatened assassination of his sons.

Thousands lined the funeral procession route of nearly two miles and swarmed into Managua's cemetery under a scorching sun, favored New York Gov. Averell Harriman over Stevenson for the Democratic nomination, saying Stevenson couldn't win.

Southwest Pa. Gets Flood Control Funds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (P)—President Eisenhower today provided $300,000 in emergency funds to strikes in coal mines, especially in West Virginia and Kentucky, storms in the Monongahela River and said "these unwarranted and unauthorized stoppages must cease." It said grievances must be settled by established procedures and their leaders would be subject to "discipline" and fines, and in serious cases "double penalties."

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Oct. 2 (P)—Film star Lana Turner was in St. John's Hospital today for observation and minor surgery. Doctors said there was no danger to the baby she and husband Lex Barker are expecting in January.

Trading Stamp Praised, Rapped At N.Y. Hearing

ALBANY, N.Y., Oct. 2 (P)—The tiny trading stamp, shopping bag companion of housewives, was praised as "successor to the sugar bowl" and condemned as "creeping cancer" at a hearing today.

More than 200 persons crowded into Gov. Averell Harriman's executive chamber to hear widely divergent views on whether saving stamps help or hurt the bargain-hunting housewife.

Another concern was the financial plight of the many small, independent retailers who say they can't afford to use them.

Dr. Persia Campbell, consumer counsel to Gov. Harriman, called the one-day meeting to "bring out the facts."

Two top-level executives of stamp companies insisted that trading stamps did not bring higher retail prices.

Frank P. Rossi, executive vice president of Sperry & Hutchinson, the nation's largest and oldest company, said that stores using stamps could not boost prices because of the intense competition. Rossi said that the main opposition to stamps came from merchants "unwilling to face competition."

William H. Preis, president of the Stop and Save Trading Stamp Corp., Paterson, N.J., said that stamps cost a merchant about 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 per cent of his sales. Preis added, however, that stamps brought "automatic" savings in eliminating what he called "expensive, short-term promotions" such as free automobiles, fur coats or an expense-paid trip abroad.

His Triple S Stamp has a cash redemption of one-fifth of one cent, Preis said.

Preis called the stamps the "successor to the sugar bowl or piggy bank in housewife saving."

One stamp is given usually for each 10 cents of merchandise purchased. They are redeemable for such items as household appliances, athletic equipment, glassware and jewelry.

Clifford A. Allanson, executive manager of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, said that an "alarming percentage" of small stores had folded in recent years.

Allanson said that between 1948 and 1954, the number of retail stores in the state dropped from 56,000 to 46,000. But he added, the trading stamp boom could not be considered the sole factor.

He said his group opposed the stamps because there was "consistently inadequate protection on redeemability."

Allanson said there was no warranty that merchandise would be available when a housewife had accumulated her stamps.

U.S. 301 Dualization Will Begin Friday

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (P)—The dualization of almost all of the Maryland sections of U.S. 301, one of the East's most important north-south highways, will begin Friday, the State Roads Commission announced today.

The SRC said completion of the dualization work between Glen Burnie and the Upper Marlboro By-pass "will eliminate one of Maryland's most treacherous roads."

The commission said 301 now carries an average of 15,000 motor vehicles a day over its 70-mile Maryland length.

Rayburn Challenges Ike's Report On School Votes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (P)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas today challenged President Eisenhower's interpretation of the votes which led to defeat of federal school aid legislation in the House last session.

Rayburn said Eisenhower referred to a preliminary vote rather than the final vote last July 5, which Rayburn said was the one "that really counted."

In a speech at Lexington, Ky., last night, Eisenhower laid the blame on the Democratic-controlled Congress for burying his administration's school assistance proposal.

New Program Will Bolster Hog Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (P)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today announced a new federal program to bolster hog prices and he hit back at a Democratic charge that the Republicans are indifferent to drought problems in Texas.

Benson told a news conference that the Agriculture Department will begin a large buying program next week to help prevent any slip in the price of hogs, a politically important item in many Midwest farm sections.

He said the department will encourage greater consumption of lard in school lunchrooms, charitable institutions and by welfare recipients.

Benson brought up the drought question by referring to a speech by Sen. Estes Kefauver, the Democratic vice-presidential candidate, in Waco, Tex., last night. Benson said — without naming Kefauver — that any suggestion the Eisenhower administration hasn't done its utmost for drought-stricken ranchers and farmers in Texas is "nothing short of falsehood."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (P)—President Eisenhower will hold a news conference at 10:30 a.m. EDT Friday. Tomorrow, the regular conference day, Eisenhower is attending the World Series game in New York.

York Minister Heads Pa. EUB Conference

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 2 (P)—The Rev. Dr. Paul E. V. Shannon, York, today was re-elected to a four-year term as superintendent of the Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

He was named at the 168th annual session of the conference. He was first elected to the post in 1948 and re-elected in 1952.

In the annual report to the session, Dr. Shannon told some 150 delegates to the three-day meeting that the 142 churches in the conference had contributed a record $38,349 for support of the Quincy Orphanage and Home at Quincy, Pa.

The session also voted to ordain Roger E. Burtner, Orrtana; Martin H. Lauver, Mount Tabor, and Harry P. Kissinger III, York. The ordination ceremonies will be held at the closing meeting Thursday.

Delegates were told that the conference membership has grown to 42,188 persons.

The Rev. John W. Fisher, Hagerstown, Md., was re-elected statistician.

Curfew Temporarily Relaxed In Nicosia

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Oct. 2 (P)—Thousands of Greek Cypriot housewives thronged a temporary market set up in Ledra Street today during a two-hour relaxation of the curfew that has kept them in their homes for nearly five days.

The curfew, heaviest ever in Nicosia, was imposed on the Greek Cypriot quarter of the walled inner city after the killing of two British policemen and the wounding of a third in Ledra Street—known as "Murder Mile"—Friday.

The curfew was lifted temporarily yesterday and today to allow the Greek Cypriots to buy fresh vegetables and meat from stalls set up in the street.

There are some 600 churches in Rome.

Prices Of Paint, Shirts To Rise

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (P)—Producers of paper and paint, and a men's shirt manufacturer have joined the parade of companies announcing price increases on their goods.

Cluett, Peabody & Co., maker of Arrow shirts, said it will boost prices on its spring line of fancy shirts. The company said the opening price for solid colors, stripes and other non-white shirts has been raised from a suggested retail price of $3.95 to $4.50.

The company said it plans to announce price boosts for its standard white shirt styles at a later date. It boosted prices on undershirts by 15 cents, making the base price for staple and fancy undershirts $1.65.

Major producers have boosted prices on household paints 3 to 4 1/2 per cent at the wholesale level or around 20 cents a gallon. At retail, the prices are going up 5 to 6 per cent or as much as 25 to 30 cents a gallon.

Companies which have increased paint prices include National Lead Co., Devco & Reynolds Co., E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., the Sherwin-Williams Co., Glidden Co., and Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. The concerns said the boosts were necessary to cover rising costs on labor, freight, containers and raw materials.

Higher price tags on Kraft paper bags and heavy wrapping paper have been put into effect by International Paper Co. and St. Regis Paper Co.

Broadcasters Favor Daylight Time Extension

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Maryland-District of Columbia Radio and Television Broadcasters Assn. today voted to support a proposal to extend Daylight Savings Time in Baltimore and to back a statewide extension.

Baltimoreans vote Nov. 6 on a proposal to add a month in the spring and a month in the fall to the present five-month Daylight Time period. The broadcasters also voted in favor of legislation to make the change statewide.

The association also voted to support a broadcasting campaign aimed at reducing highway deaths.

State chairmen for the Republican and Democratic parties addressed the association luncheon and Gov. McKeldin made an impromptu appearance.

Neither D. Eldred Rinehart nor T. Barton Harrington emphasized politics in their addresses. McKeldin drew a laugh when he recommended the association give Democrat Harrington "a pleasant hearing but don't pay any attention to him."

Harrington, in a list of suggestions to broadcasters concerning the coverage of politics, urged they develop political specialists and to do "more active reportorial work in the political field."

Bob Cochrane of WMAR-TV Baltimore, succeeded Ben Strouse of WWDC Washington as association president.

"GOLF TEE" SAVED LIFE — Norman Hickey looks at a "golf tee" shaped gadget which was used in an ingenious heart operation to save his life. The National Heart Institute said yesterday the operation, first of its kind for a human being, involved using a plastic-sponge tunnel in the shape of a golf tee to close a false opening Hickey had between the base of the aorta, big pipeline of blood from the heart, and one of the heart's main chambers. Hickey, who lives in Arlington, Va., carries a duplicate of his inside-the-heart "golf tee" to show friends. (AP Photofax)

Pay Hike For School Supervisors Urged

ROCKVILLE, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—The Montgomery County School Board last night voted to ask the County Council to approve a transfer of $8,962 to give principals and supervisors the same pay raise that has been granted teachers.

Russian Roulette Hinted In Slaying

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—The fatal shooting of a 34-year-old man was investigated today by police.

The man identified as Claude Roberts was found near death in his home yesterday. He had been shot in the head and died shortly after being admitted to City Hospital.

Investigators said there was evidence the Negro victim and two friends had been playing Russian roulette during a drinking bout.

Man Believed Attacked Died Of Heart Seizure

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—A 41-year-old Shepherdstown man who died last night after being found on the Potomac River Bridge, apparently injured under mysterious circumstances, in reality died of a heart attack.

The body of Charles Thomas Tennett was taken to Hagerstown, where an autopsy was performed. Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical examiner for the State, ruled that Tennett had died of a heart attack.

A bruise had been found on Tennett's forehead, which had led to suspicions he might have been attacked, but Fisher said apparently it was of minor nature.

Presbyterian Merger Backed

SALISBURY, Oct. 2 (AP)—The New Castle Presbytery voted unanimously for the proposed merger of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. and the United Presbyterian Church of North America, presbytery officials announced today.

Dr. S. J. Venable, general presbyter, announced the vote, which was one of the main items on the agenda of the two-day 518th Stated Meetings of the Presbyterian Church. About 100 representatives of 48 churches on the Eastern Shore Peninsula of Delaware, Maryland and Virginia attended the session.

The vote was part of a nation wide election to determine whether the two churches should be merged into one which would be known as the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

Dr. William Leishman of Lewes, Del., was reelected stated clerk, and treasurer of the presbytery.

The Rev. John McCleary, pastor of Manokin Presbyterian Church at Princess Anne, Md., was elected permanent clerk. He succeeds the Rev. Wilbert B. Smith Jr., of New Castle, Del.

$700,000 Baltimore Blaze Investigated

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Firemen combed the ruins today to find the cause of a pre-dawn fire which gutted a three-story manufacturing building in downtown Baltimore today.

The loss was estimated unofficially at $700,000.

Five firemen were hurt slightly when caught in a shower of masonry from a falling wall. More than 70 pieces of fire apparatus responded to 10 alarms sounded in rapid succession during the first hour.

The old brick building housed the Royal American Manufacturing Co., which makes furniture, the Oriole Paper Box Co. and the Charles Antell Co., a cosmetics firm.

Arson Squad Chief Thomas Knoerlein said he could not explain the rapid spread of flames. Everything appeared normal at 5 p.m. and a routine police check at 1:40 a.m. uncovered nothing suspicious.

A Nominating committee was elected and plans formulated for a community achievement program, at the meeting of the Cresap Homemakers Club, held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Long, Potomac Park, Mrs. Arlie Borror, president.

Mrs. Harold Lewis was elected, chairman of the Nominating committee. Serving with her are Mrs. Arthur Ferguson and Mrs. Arthur Long.

The club achievement program will be held jointly with Bowling Green, Potomac Park, Progressive Young Women and Cresap Homemakers Clubs October 18. It will be in the recreation hall of Cresap Methodist Church beginning at 10:30 a. m.

The club also voted to chaperone the Teenage Club for the month of October. Eighteen answered roll call with qualities they like in friends, following the reading of the collect. Mrs. H. C. Heineman gave a demonstration on "Zip Yourself In," and reported on the leadership training meeting conducted by Miss Dorothy Emerson. Miss Mary Wise demonstrated "Fitting Ready-Mades." The story of the hymn of the month was given by Mrs. Thomas Millar, and sung by the group with Mrs. Heineman at the piano. Each member brought her favorite salad, which was served at noon.

Mental Case Treatment Discussed

A discussion of human behavior in order to use it in their respective training programs featured the conference of the Maryland League of Nursing attended by 52 people Saturday at Mountain Lake Hotel. Miss Christine Williams, president of District 1, Maryland League of Nursing, welcomed the guests and spoke of the importance of mental hygiene in the work of the public health nurse.

The film, "The Quiet One," was shown. It depicted the confusion on an unwanted 10-year-old, reared in a New York tenement, who had to shift for himself and the emotional rehabilitation he received in psychiatric treatment at a corrective school. Dr. Robert Thomas, chief of the Division of Mental Hygiene, State Health Department, led the discussion.

Miss Jean Camper, supervisor of special education for the county, discussed the needs of emotionally disturbed children in the educational field. She stated that as yet there has been no translation by law as to what constitutes an emotionally disturbed child, which in turn handicaps the schools in their responsibility to provide an educational program for them. She pointed out that the emphasis in the school program should be prevention and teachers should be trained from a psychological or psychiatric viewpoint to recognize emotional symptoms in the first stages, so the child can be referred for special treatment.

Reporting the consensus of the Health committee of the Juvenile Conference, Miss Florence Burnett, consultant nurse in Mental Hygiene of the state health department, said that juvenile delinquency would be solved by prevention. She pointed out that in the field of health the nurse should see the patient as a whole, his relationship to others, understand his emotions and see that he receives the type of guidance at the point he can use it. Either child or parent can go a long way in becoming a happier person and is not so likely to become mentally ill or delinquent.

The resources of mental hygiene in the state were discussed by Dr. Thomas. Aside from psychiatric coverage for each county for diagnostic purposes, as well as treatment facilities in many counties, he told of the various public and private hospital, clinics and institutions available for various types of emotionally disturbed children.

Mrs. Ella D. Everstine, psychiatric social consultant for Allegany county, was moderator and explained the development of the mental hygiene clinics in Maryland. She stated the most vital problem at present is the care and treatment for the severely emotionally disturbed child who is not psychotic or mentally retarded. She said the clinic has one or two such cases a year and these children need help immediately, and placement in an institution.

A luncheon followed the meeting. Nurses from Prince Georges, Baltimore City, Frederick, Washington, Allegany, Garrett counties and Martinsburg, W. Va., as well as representatives from Garrett County Board of Education, Welfare Department, Women's Civic Club, and AAUW attended.

Mrs. Robert W. Huck, District 1 Mental Health chairman, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Junior Woman's Civic Club at 8 tonight in the club house.

J. Carl Bucy, 108 Seymour Street, has been a medical patient in Memorial Hospital for the past three weeks.

Billie Grace Stein

Billie Grace Stein To Be Bride Of A-2c Charles Root

A program of nuptial music, the traditional wedding march from the opera Lohengrin, and Mendelssohn's recessional will be played by Mrs. Walter Schack. She also will accompany George C. Stein, singing, "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

To be given in marriage by her uncle, George T. Stein, the bride will be attired in a street-length white nylon dress, with which she will wear white slippers and will carry a prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Her attendants will wear powder blue dresses and carry bouquets of pink rosebuds. The flower girl will wear a pink nylon dress.

Mrs. Blank has chosen a blue fall dress with black velvet hat and black accessories for her daughter's wedding. With it she will wear a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Root has selected a beige dress with black hat and accessories and also will have a corsage of yellow roses.

GOP To Hold Cake Contest

Republican campaign headquarters in Baltimore has announced plans for a statewide cake-baking contest, open to all state residents regardless of political affiliation.

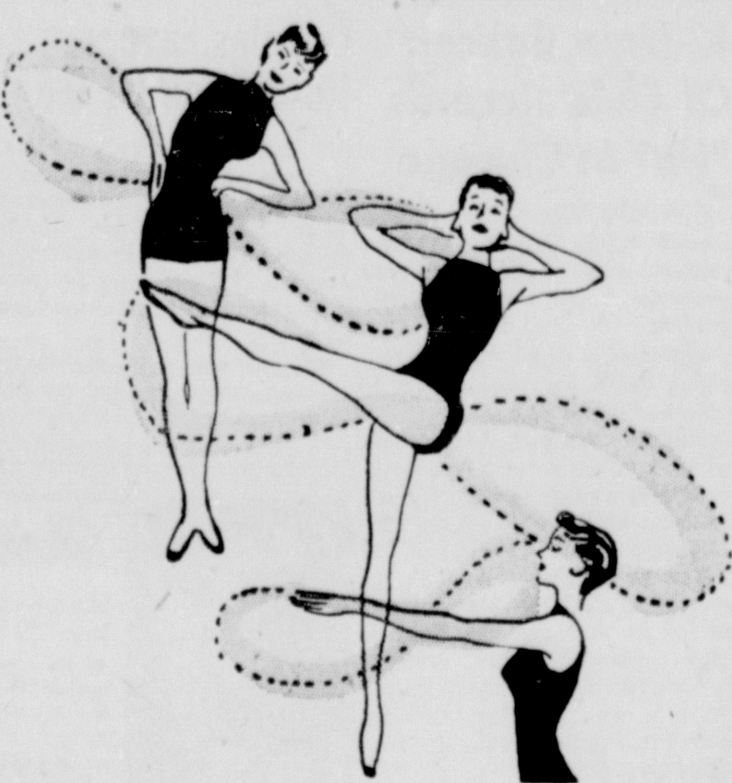

The contest, with an all-expense paid trip to the Presidential inauguration as the prize for the winner and her (or his) family, is being held in conjunction with the President Eisenhower Birthday Dinner October 18.

In addition to the top prize which includes tickets to the inauguration ceremonies, two invitations to the Inaugural Ball, transportation, hotel accommodations and meals, there will be awards for runners-up.

Mrs. Vaughn E. Richardson, vice chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, said her county vice chairman will have the cakes transported to Baltimore for judging prior to the $100-a-plate dinner in the Lord Baltimore Hotel. The winner will be sent to the White House and others distributed to orphanages and children's hospitals.

In Allegany County, the cake-baking committee is represented by Mrs. L. B. Starcher, 557 Patterson Avenue, city; and Mrs. Kermit Glatfely of Bittinger heads the Garrett group. They can supply information on the contest whether interested persons are Republicans, Democrats, teen-agers or voters, Mrs. Richardson said.

Keep your figure — and forever save yourself the struggle of getting it back. Here's the models' short cut way.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Today — The Famous Powers Figure-Keeper Exercise

Of course, it's far easier to keep a good figure than to get it back. There's no comparison between the effort necessary to stay lithe and trim and to return yourself to that happy state after a lapse.

Don't be lulled into a false sense of security just because you haven't had to worry about your figure — yet. Even the most active woman risks muscle slackening today. The lives we lead, busy as they are, don't exercise all the muscles properly that must be exercised. Once early youth is past, this sad fact becomes apparent all too soon for most women.

That's why today's not one day too soon to start this figure 8 figure-keeper exercise which models have made famous — no matter how pleasing are the reflections in your mirror. It's a whole muscle-tightening and joint limbering program, condensed and simplified.

1. Stretch out on the floor and raise your right leg high with your knee unbent, and point your big toe. As if your leg were a pencil, describe a very large, neat figure 8 in the air, starting as far out to the right as you can reach. Repeat several times this way, and then do the figure 8 again backwards.

Now relax the knee, hold the ankle taut, and describe medium-sized figure 8's in both directions. Let the action come from the knee, not the thigh joint. Then straighten your leg and do small 8's with ankle action only. Repeat everything so far with the left leg.

2. Sit up and extend your right arm at shoulder level. With the motion flowing in turn from the shoulder, the elbow, and the wrist, fill the air with forward and reverse, large, medium, and small figure 8's. Repeat with the left arm.

3. Rise to a pulled-up standing position and this time use your waist as a pivot for figure 8's in both directions.

Eisenhower - Stevenson Race Looks Close In Pennsylvania

By RELMAN MORIN

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 2 (AP)—It looks close in Pennsylvania. If the national elections were held tomorrow, President Eisenhower probably would win in his adopted home state. The prevailing opinion there is he has a slim lead over Adlai Stevenson—at this stage of the presidential race. But Election Day is still weeks away.

Meanwhile, political tides are running, and statewide trends have developed. The question is: Are they likely to change what seems to be the present picture? Is time working for either party?

This correspondent recently criss-crossed Pennsylvania, taking soundings in the cities and on the farms, talking to merchants and miners. Here are some general conclusions—

ITEM: The President's popularity seems virtually intact. Most of the people who liked him before say they still do and intend to vote for him.

ITEM: However, I found nobody switching his vote to Eisenhower, after having voted for Stevenson in 1952. The only switches encountered, a handful, are from the President to his rival.

ITEM: No issue seems to have gripped the voters. Certainly nothing has generated the heat and anger of 1952. No farm "revolt" has developed in Pennsylvania. All this sounds placid, like a static situation.

Does it mean, therefore, that Eisenhower will sweep the state again. Four years ago, he won by 269,000 votes, nearly 53 percent of the total, carrying 60 of the 67 counties. Are the state's 32 electoral votes already in the GOP bag?

The Democrats concede nothing. On the contrary, they are full of optimism. They believe they can win. They say the trends are working for them. They cite these points—

1. Local elections. Two years ago, they elected Gov. George A. Leader. Over the years, they have been steadily capturing county courthouses, 14 since 1952. In the same period, they won 10 mayoralty elections in principal cities. In 1951, they elected the first Democratic mayor of Philadelphia in 67 years.

They do not concede these victories are the product of local conditions alone. Miss Genevieve Blatt, Democratic secretary of internal affairs, put it this way:

"When you turn over a city like Philadelphia, that has a bearing far behind its borders."

2. Democratic registration. Tails have been steadily overtaking the Republican figures in many areas of the state.

3. Adlai Stevenson got a good reception in his recent appearance in Harrisburg. He drew between 7,500 and 8,000 people to the Farm Show Arena—and whether that was a capacity crowd depends on whether you are a Republican or a Democrat. He seems to have made a good impression.

4. There is unemployment, especially in the hard and soft coal areas. Pennsylvania is the only state with an area classed by the U. S. Bureau of Employment Security as Group F. An area is so classified when it has a ratio of 12 per cent or more unemployment to the total labor force. . . . "job seekers substantially in excess of job openings."

These are major factors in the Democrats' belief that they can carry Pennsylvania for Stevenson and their other candidates.

The Republican replies—

1. That the local elections were just that and nothing more. As a GOP official, who asked not to be identified, put it: "We beat ourselves in Philadelphia and a lot of other places. We have been pretty complacent. But the circumstances that affected local elections won't carry over into the presidential election."

2. That the pace of registrations is a sign the Republicans are succeeding in their campaign to get out the vote. Figures are not complete for the state, but Republicans claimed a new record in Delaware county, a gain of 20,000 over the 1952 total. In heavily Democratic Allegheny county, embracing Pittsburgh, the GOP added 26,000 new names to their rolls. Fearing complacency, they are elated by such figures.

3. That Pennsylvania Democrats actually prefer Sen. Estes Kefauver, the vice presidential candi-

Law Notes Man Has Low Point

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—Just as there is a pinnacle beyond which no man can climb, so there is a depth below which he cannot slip. While not an axiom of law, the law noted this yesterday.

Thirty years ago Edward J. Monkemeyer was a successful lawyer. The 1929 crash wiped out his practice.

His was a downhill road from then until last Aug. 31, when he was evicted from his Kew Gardens room.

Broke, homeless, Monkemeyer, 63, walked that same day into a Manufacturers Trust Co. branch in nearby Forest Hills with a note demanding $1,000.

Monkemeyer was seized. Eventually he wound up in a state mental hospital. Yesterday, his attempted robbery case came up in Queens Felony Court.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Burt Kohler told Magistrate Thomas J. Fitzpatrick:

"They say there is a chance to rebuild him, physically and mentally . . . no useful purpose would be served in bringing him to trial."

Magistrate Fitzpatrick dismissed the charges.

Later, Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor explained:

"A man can endure just so much pain and frustration in a lifetime. It seems to us that Ed Monkemeyer has had just a little more than his share."

12-Hour Concert Of Elvis' Records "Hit" In Chicago

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Radio Station WAIT put on a 12-hour concert of Elvis Presley records yesterday and reported these results:

One woman called she was canceling her dental appointment to stay home and listen.

Another inquired when there would be a break for a long news-cast. She wanted to hang out her washing but didn't want to miss any songs.

The mother of a 6-month old youngster said the baby usually cries all morning but went to sleep peacefully as Elvis crooned.

A woman said she hadn't missed work in more than two years but was playing sick today to stick near the radio.

Many mothers reported they had no trouble getting their teen-agers up for school. The trouble was getting them off to school.

The ricksha used in the Orient was invented by Jonathan Goble. A United States Marine who visited Japan with Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry in 1954.

Douglas Favors Re-Election Of Ike

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 2 (AP)—Lewis W. Douglas, U.S. ambassador to Great Britain during a Democratic administration, and four times a Democratic congressman from Arizona, said yesterday he favors the re-election of President Eisenhower.

Douglas, who supported the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket in 1952, said:

"Like a great many other Americans I believe that loyalty to one's country takes precedence over loyalty to one's party . . . President Eisenhower . . . speaks with an authority in the arena of international affairs which no other American possesses."

In Arizona, Douglas said he would do "everything I can do for my old friend and colleague, Carl Hayden, and will vote for most of the candidates on the Democratic ticket. Senator Hayden—a Democrat—has been one of the best public servants the state has ever known."

Earring-Wearing Girls Segregated

BLYTH, England, Oct. 2 (AP)—Three 13-year-old girls who insist on wearing earrings to school were segregated yesterday from their classmates.

Headmistress R. W. Leddicot called the trio into her office and told them they would have to study there until the result of an appeal to their parents becomes known. The girls are Anne Street, Joan Brown and Ann Kane.

"This earring thing has become a craze," said the headmistress. "Some of the girls are even piercing one another's ears with darning needles."

The first parental reaction was in favor of earrings.

"We are going to fight the order," said Ann Kane's mother, "I like to see children wearing earrings."

Said Miss Evelyn Atkinson, Ann Street's guardian:

"I cannot see how earrings interfere with education."

The American flag was first flown on a ship by John Paul Jones at Portsmouth, Va., July 2, 1777.

Reds Not Endorsing President Candidate

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Communist party said last night it is not endorsing any candidate for the presidency. The party issued a statement on its position after what it said was a weekend meeting here of 150 Communists from 36 states.

The statement expressed agreement with what it called labor's major objective "to defeat the Cadillac cabinet," a name sometimes applied to President Eisenhower's cabinet.

But while criticizing the Republicans, the Communists also described the Democratic party's civil rights plank as "grossly inadequate."

The party said, instead of endorsing candidates, it would stress issues such as peace, civil rights, civil liberties and economic security.

In calling for defeat of "the Cadillac cabinet, and McCarthy,

Pygmy Happiness Comes From Beetles

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Quite likely the reason you never saw an unhappy pygmy is that he eats beetles.

That's the gist of a report today by an anthropologist-priest who recently returned from New Guinea where he observed the apparent workings of a "happiness vitamin."

The Rev. Martin Gusinde described the source of pygmy happiness as "vitamin T"—and he told reporters they get it from eating beetles.

Father Gusinde, 70, is a member of the Society of Divine Word and a professor of anthropology at the Catholic University of America in Washington. He has just returned from a four-month study of the pygmies in a remote region "where no white man has ever been before."

PTA Council Hears Discussion

More than 200 parents and teachers from all of the 30 parent teacher associations of Allegany County, which comprise the county council PTA, attended the first meeting of the year at Midland Elementary School Monday night, according to Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, council president.

The program included a panel discussion arranged by Mrs. Brooks Starcher, program chairman. Panel members included Homer Higgins, supervisor of the county Board of Education who served as moderator; Juvenile Court Magistrate Morris Baron; Mrs. William C. VanNewkirk, psychologist for the Department of Health, and Robert E. Pence, supervisor of physical education for Allegany County public schools.

Higgins said members of the panel attended the Governor's Conference on Juvenile Delinquency and had the opportunity to exchange views with experts and laymen from all parts of the state.

He noted that it was Gov. William Preston Lane who first recognized the mounting problem and named a Youth Commission to study the problem. More recently Gov. McKeldin has appointed a commission as a fact-finding group, and this work is now being extended.

Higgins explained that the program is to continue at the local as well as the state level, and that the work of the commission is to determine how existing agencies can be better utilized to do the job.

Mrs. VanNewkirk said psychologists believe that every child behavior problem can be traced to one parent or the other, or sometimes to both. Children attempt to live up to standards their parents set for them, she said, and often these standards are established unconsciously by the parents.

Judge Baron explained the operation of Juvenile Court and said there is agreement that uniformity is needed in the laws dealing with young people.

He expressed the view that children's problems begin at home because that is where they spend most of their time and that is where they are first taught and often not taught the differences between right and wrong. Baron said he does not believe in "juvenile delinquents" as such. He said parents or other adults usually are to blame, and that any "bad" child, given understanding and the help of agencies qualified, can become a normal citizen.

Pence outlined the program of recreation as it is intended to help prevent delinquency. Unfortunately, he said, it has been his experience that the five per cent of the young people who are in trouble or who are trouble makers, are not easy to reach through recreation programs.

The Midland PTA, host for the evening, served refreshments following the meeting. The next county council session will be held December 3 at Carver School.

Traffic Laws Offer Special Help For Blind Persons

Maryland's traffic laws offer special protection to the blind, Senator Charles M. See said yesterday in deploring the accident Monday which resulted in the injury of a Baltimore woman and the death of the dog upon whose eyes she depended.

Mrs. Helen Tullis was slightly injured when she was struck down by a tractor-trailer swinging around a street corner in Baltimore, Prince, the collie who has been her constant companion for seven years, was killed.

Mrs. Tullis is well known in Cumberland, and several months ago spoke before the Cumberland Lions Club.

Senator See said Mrs. Tullis would be unhurt and her faithful dog still alive if the driver had known and obeyed the state's traffic rules.

The 1956 edition of the Driving Handbook, which motorists are advised to carry in their cars, has this to say on Page 21 about the rights of blind pedestrians:

"At any street or road crossing or intersection where the movement of traffic is not regulated by a traffic officer or by traffic control signals, any blind or partially blind pedestrian shall be entitled to the right-of-way at such intersection if he shall, before attempting to cross, extend before him at arm's length a cane of white color, or white tipped with red or a chrome, nickel, aluminum, or other reflecting or shining metal cane, or if he is accompanied by a guide dog."

The rule is repeated in the question and answer portion of the handbook:

"Where do pedestrians have the right-of-way in cities and towns?"

"Answer—Pedestrians have the right-of-way at all street crossings except where traffic is controlled by a traffic officer or a traffic signal light. This applies especially to a blind person, extending a WHITE CANE, or with a dog."

South End Businessmen To Reconsider By-Laws

The South Cumberland Businessmen's Association will hold its regular meeting October 9 at 6:30 p. m. in Grace Methodist Church hall.

Newly elected officers will assume their duties. Arnold A. Robertson is president; Harry Wilson, vice president; Ruth F. Barnes, secretary; Dr. Blair W. Stump, treasurer, and A. E. Beckman, Harry Goss and Wesley Taulor, new directors.

Retiring officers are Nelson W. Russler, president; Arnold Robertson, vice president; F. Perry Smith Jr., secretary; John Weber treasurer; William Umstot, Howard Douglas and Ruth Barnes, directors.

The association members will consider at their next meeting an important change in their by-laws. The change deals with the manner in which they elect a secretary. Under present plans, after directors have been chosen by the membership, the newly elected directors meet and elect officers. Under the proposed amendment, the newly elected directors would meet and elect from their number, a president, vice president and treasurer, but the secretary may be elected either from the board or the membership at large.

Officers explained that the plan which has been followed has made it necessary to move records and files every time a new secretary is chosen, and records are constantly being handled by several persons. It also explained that under the change, it will be possible to re-elect a secretary whether or not that person is a member of the board.

President Robertson has designated the next meeting as a special session to act on this by-law change.

Returns To City

J. William Groves, former president of the Allegany Trades Council and the State Board of Barber Examiners, has returned to Cumberland from Pittsburgh. He will open a shop in the LaVale Fire Hall tomorrow.

Beauticians To Meet

Delegates to the state meeting will be named at the meeting of the local Hairdressers and Cosmetologist Association tonight at Central YMCA.

Armory Sought For Keyser

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 2.—The State Armory Board will seek legislative appropriations of $548,825 for each of the next three years in an effort to construct new buildings for National Guard units in 19 West Virginia communities.

Such appropriations normally are made from surplus, of which the State has found itself consistently short in recent years.

In 18 instances, the desired new armories would replace existing facilities the state now rents. Another is planned for Dunbar, where there is now no armory at all. The Dunbar National Guard unit drills at St. Albans.

Other cities involved in the construction program are Williamson, Parkersburg, Logan, Gassaway, Richwood, Beckley, Montgomery, Moundsville, Spencer, Clarksburg, Keyser, Weston, Salem, Morgantown, Hinton, Charleston and Elkins.

A new armory also is planned for Camp Dawson in Preston County, which is state-owned.

Creek Area Asks Aid In Sewage Problem

Sewage which is dumped into Georges Creek and eventually winds up in the Potomac River has resulted in many complaints and according to a letter received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday the governor of Maryland may be sent a petition containing more than 1,000 signatures in regard to the situation.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, has written George L. Hall, chief of the division of environmental hygiene of the State Department of Health, concerning the complaints.

A copy of the letter was received by the commissioners yesterday.

Dr. Frantz's letter to Hall states:

"We are receiving numerous complaints from residents of Westernport, Lonaconing, Frostburg and the entire Georges Creek region about which we can do nothing in regard to correcting. These complaints are justified.

"Both Westernport and Frostburg are adding new sewer lines by the mile to pick up sewage from new homes that are being added to the city limits. The town of Westernport has gone so far as to try to have one of the new developments pay for a sewer line from their development and connect to the city sewer line instead of the new development taking care of their own sewage.

"When this line is connected, it will run into some natural drain and eventually into Georges Creek.

"The trouble in all three of these communities is that the town sewers drain into Georges Creek from natural drains or onto other people's property and pollute their grounds and springs. The three towns are growing and some action should be taken to take care of their sewage problems in a sanitary manner.

"At least a survey should be made so that they could plan for the future and what they are going to do with their sewage problems.

"The Upper Potomac River Board is also complaining about the sewage from these three communities emptying into Georges Creek and Potomac River.

"We would like to have an expression from your office to know if anything can be done for these people as they are writing to the State Health Department and they also have more than 1,000 signatures that they intend to send to the governor with regard to these conditions."

The county commissioners said they recognize the problem and will await a reply from Hall to Dr. Frantz to see what action the board can take.

Taxpayers Urged To Call If Bills Are Not Received

Finance Commissioner John J. Long is urging that any one not receiving a city tax bill should contact the collector's office at City Hall.

Under state tax laws, failure to receive a bill does not excuse a taxpayer from interest liability if the bill is not paid before the deadline.

Long said he wanted to clear this matter and emphasized that all taxpayers should have received bills by this time.

Tax Collector George E. Davis said bills were mailed two weeks ago.

The interest charge pertains to real and personal property. It was pointed out that corporations are not included since they must be certified by the State Tax Commission and pay 30 days from the date of billing.

Where real estate is involved, a person who has purchased property since January 1 may not have received a bill; and under personal property a bill may not have been received by one who failed to file a schedule or has changed his address.

A taxpayer is liable for one per cent interest if taxes are not paid by October 24. Thereafter, the interest charge is increased one half of a per cent for each month taxes are overdue.

County Board Approves Request

A supplemental budget submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, was approved.

Dr. Frantz explained that there is enough money in his overall budget to take care of the additional items, but he needed the county approval in order to pay out the funds as needed.

A total of $600 for outpatient hospital treatment, clinical fees for crippled children totaling $750 and $800 for the mass X-ray films used in the county each year were in the supplemental budget.

Of the total, $600 is non-matching while the balance is from matching state funds.

Board Gets Letters On Route 40 Plan

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received replies from two more Maryland members of Congress on the resolution passed by the board for inclusion of U.S. Route 40 from Hancock to Washington, Pa., in the Federal Interstate Highway System.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall in his reply reiterated his continued campaign for having the roadway included in the federal program.

Rep. Samuel N. Friedel (7th-Md.) said he is "looking into the matter" and requested the board to determine just how he could be of assistance. Rep. Friedel said he would advise them at a later date of what he has been able to do in the matter.

Board Issues Permit

The building engineer has issued a permit to William H. Gelpert to construct a one-story dwelling at 956 (Lots 136, 137, 138) Braddock Road in Dingle (1st) Addition. Cost of the 34-by-75 foot dwelling, which will have concrete block foundation, frame walls and asbestos shingle roof, is $20,000.

Keegan Favors Joining CD Radio Setup

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan said yesterday he is in favor of a Civil Defense proposed radio setup which would allow communication among various county communities during an emergency.

Accordingly, he said he will propose to the Mayor and Council that the city stand an approximate $8 a month fee for two telephone lines to complete the plan.

As explained by William G. Barger, county director of Civil Defense, the local organization has obtained approval of the Federal Communications Commission for addition of a remote control console similar to that at Central Fire Station here which would tie into an existing transmitter on Haystack Mountain. This will permit contact among communities in an emergency by use of fire department radios and will not interfere with normal day-to-day use.

This would be an effective tie-in of the Fire Department with the CD control center.

Barger pointed out that for the past several years, the CD organization has provided the City of Cumberland and many volunteer fire departments in the county with two-way radios through matching funds and this has welded the various units into a county-wide fire service. He said he believed its effectiveness was proved during the recent fire at the glass plants in LaVale.

Referring again to the remote control plan, Barger said Chief Virgil A. Parker suggested that the control center be equipped with an extension from his switchboard at Central Fire Station to provide immediate communication. Cost to the city which Keegan will suggest is for rental on the two telephone lines necessary to complete the plan.

Cost of the remote control unit and its installation will be paid by Allegany County funds, Barger said.

LaVale Firemen Called To Route 40 Restaurant

Wearry firemen in the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company answered another call early yesterday, to their tenth in 16 days, and saved a Route 40 restaurant from serious damage.

Chief Bruce Long and 20 volunteers were called to the Southern Barbecue, located at the west end of the Cumberland suburb at 1 a. m. yesterday.

A passing motorist saw smoke pouring from the restaurant and stopped at the LaVale Barracks of Maryland State Police. Police then called the firemen.

Cromwell C. Zembower, company president, said when the firemen arrived the place was filled with smoke and the volunteers had to don masks to get to the source of the fire.

The blaze was found in the living quarters, at present unoccupied, in the rear of the one-story building. Zembower said a hole was burned through the floor.

The fire was confined to the floor of the living quarters. The place suffered smoke damage, firemen said. The restaurant is owned by Rose Dowling of LaVale.

The LaVale company went 11 weeks this summer without a fire call, and suddenly Saturday, September 15, the rash of calls began.

The only major one was the glass plant fire where two old buildings of the James Clark Distilling Company and occupied by the Cumberland Glass Company and the Queen Glass Company burned to the ground.

The LaVale unit has been called back a number of times to quench the smoldering fires. Sunday evening the portable pump was placed in Braddock Run and a line strung to the buildings so that a continuous stream could be poured on the ruins.

Beer License Granted

A class D beer license was issued yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage License Commissioners to William C. Straw for the Silver Lanes Bowling Alleys in Cresap-town.

On The Line by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Oct. 2—(INS)—Political "batter" for the opening game of the World Series will be Eisenhower and Nixon. When the Series moves over to the Yankee Stadium it will be Stevenson and Kefauver.

Ike throws out the first ball at Ebbets Field. Stevenson chucks at the stadium. Never before in our political history has there been such an invasion into baseball by the competitors in the presidential race. It is an indication that both are "running scared."

In April of 1953 the President, who has a mind of his own, saw no reason why he should interrupt his busy schedule to engage in the fairly nonsensical (but traditional) business of throwing out the first ball at Washington at the beginning of the baseball season. Ever since Walter Johnson's time, the first pitch at Washington usually has been a ball, followed haplessly by a triple or home run by the opposing batter when the Washington pitcher finally got the pill over the plate. Ike had a golf date somewhere and saw no reason why he should break it.

Well, you'd have thought he painted a bad picture on a church door—so indignant was the reaction. The Prez happens to be a man with a limited interest in kissing babies to please photographers and has a horror of associating himself with commercial matters. So he was on solid ground by deciding to go elsewhere. But the hue and cry became such that it was considered a political lucky break for him that the opening game on that occasion was rained out and he was granted a reprieve pitch.

Eisenhower has dutifully appeared since then in the "throwing out the first ball" role. Ever since the late Clark Griffith thought the whole business up in the spring of William Howard Taft's last year in White House harness, it has become as much a required part of a President's routine as fishing, or breaking down. An alarming number of people were offended because Ike saw no reason why he should lend his name and considerable prestige to this swirl of commerce. It recalled the anguished cries during the bull-pen warm-up before the 1952 Republican convention when more than one press conference with candidate Ike or his spokesmen was interrupted by a plaintive cry of, "Well, why don't you go on 'Meet the Press'?"

Ike prefers golf to baseball. Adlai was first to answer years ago when someone asked, aloud, "Who's for tennis?" But they'll be on hand, hearty as all get-out, when called upon to throw out that respective first baseball.

The Democrats feel they've made a ten strike by moving Adlai into the stadium. The stadium seats 66,666 as opposed to Ebbets Field's 33,333.

They can say, in the handout that follows Adlai's speech, "Adlai Stevenson today drew twice as many people to a baseball rally as did President Eisenhower. This indicates a trend which, if prolonged into November, will return the party of Jefferson, Jackson, Wilson, Roosevelt and Truman to..."

The GOP handout, after Ike (who is the only first rate athlete ever to make the White House) gets rid of the ball, might read, "Baseball fans the land over got their wish today to see that President Eisenhower, and Eisenhower only, was present at the first and most important game of the 1956 World Series. In an exclusive understatement, National Chairman Leonard Hall said, 'The truly authentic presidential baseball fan was (and is) Herbert Hoover. He was pitilessly booed at the 1931 World Series. He'll be at the 1956 Series, naturally, and if the public address announcer gets around to noticing him, and locates him properly in the stands, he'll get a send-off that will be a heart-warming reminder that times change and good men survive the pillory. College Seeking Increase For Operating Expenses

Frostburg State Teachers College is seeking $806,663 from the Maryland State Board of Education for operations in the next fiscal year, an increase of 38 per cent.

College officials said yesterday the figure has been approved, and will be referred now to the state budget director for consideration.

President R. Bowen Hardesty stated the amount represents an increase of $227,012 over last year's operational expenses for operation of the college (1955-57), based on an enrollment of 600 students which has been exceeded. The increase request for the 1957-58 fiscal year is based on an expected enrollment of 785 students.

Hardesty said increased enrollment at the college necessitates but tired. Coolidge was so vague about the whole business that he tried to leave the ballpark in Washington with the score tied in the ninth inning of the seventh game of the breath-taking 1924 Washington-New York series. H. S. T., a real good man of the people sort, seemed to place stress only on whether he'd go to his right hand or left for the opening pitch.

Anyway, the national candidates finally have recognized the national pastime. They hope that followers of the national pastime will, in turn, recognize them.

the employment of a larger faculty, more service employees, additional teacher supplies and an increase in the use of utilities. Greater enrollment also calls for more administration and greater expense in virtually every branch of operation, he added.

The amount requested is for operational expenses only, and does not include money for capital improvements.

Maryland's four other state teachers colleges also asked for increases.

Towson Teachers' asked for the largest amount, $1,514,227. Its request amounted to 29 per cent more than its present expenditures. Towson has the largest student enrollment of the five schools.

Other requests: Salisbury Teachers, $534,347, up 17.1 per cent; Bowie Teachers, $495,514, up 9.1 per cent and Coppin Teachers (in Baltimore), $277,067, up 27 per cent.

Morgan State College requested a little over $2,430,000 or about 15 per cent more than its current expenditures. With the $24,025,777 budget request approved last week for the University of Maryland, the total requests for all state institutions amounts to more than 30 million dollars.

Your Heart Power Can Be Measured

Have you had your heart power checked recently? If not, you may be approaching some mechanical difficulty by carrying a heavier workload than your power unit can accommodate. Or perhaps you are suffering from faulty carburetion or a clogged fuel line.

This is likely to be the jargon used by physicians of the future in discussing circulatory ailments with their patients. Not as ridiculous as it may sound, the first step toward measuring the human body in the same manner as the automobile has already been made by three government scientists at the National Heart Institute in Bethesda.

A technique known as 'a catheter tip method for the measurement of instantaneous aortic blood velocity' was developed by Alexander J. Mallos, Alfred G. Casper and Dr. Donald L. Fry of the institute to determine the capabilities of the human heart. The technique is roughly comparable to testing horsepower of automobile engines.

Many advantages can be foreseen as a result of such a heart power "gauge," not the least of which is aiding the physician to determine limitations of heart patients. The technique consists of measuring the blood pressure of a leg artery and, through mathematical equations, transforming this into the velocity of the aorta. Another formula then produces the power output of the individual.

Perhaps the idea of rating the human body is too new, but there was a time when many states priced automobile registration plates according to horsepower ratings. A publicity-seeking politician could have some fun advocating an income tax based on heart power.

Booming The Vote!

Each election year, a campaign is organized to get people to vote. Such a campaign is usually non-partisan, the advocates believing that one should vote for the sake of voting. Suppose there is no one to vote for, suppose the citizen feels that he has no choice, can make no choice, he must vote anyhow because it is his obligation to vote even if Joe Smith runs against Otto Zilch.

So, this year in comes a letter from the public relations department of Scholastic Magazines which has hooked up with the American Heritage Foundation to get the teenagers to hustle up the voters. Maybe it is better for the teenagers to remind the voters to vote than that they should listen to Elvis Pelvis or Pelvis Elvis, whichever way you dig it.

But now they can become "Teenage Election Volunteers" and get a button, red, white and blue. There are lots of sidelines connected with this. For instance, a volunteer can baby-sit or dog-sit while mamma goes to the polls to vote. In the district where I live, which is full of babies and dogs, including my own remarkable Joe, mamma could vote for somebody or other who is running for Congress. I never heard his name but I know that I am represented in the House of Representatives by somebody.

The question is should I take Joe to the polls or should I get a dog-sitter for the "Teenage Election Volunteers?" Joe, I am sure, could help me vote intelligently. Maybe, he would foul up the voting machine. That would be a help, because except for a president and vice president, I have no one to vote for. I might vote against some folks. For instance, the "Teenage Election Volunteers" would want me to vote for a United States senator. Being a conservative, I usually vote Republican. This year, I had planned not to vote for the Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate. But shall I vote for a Democrat with an ADA endorsement?

That is a problem maybe in higher mathematics or in astrophysics. If both candidates, for one reason or another, are displeasing, for whom should one vote? For the lesser of the two evils? If so, then I must vote for the Democrat who as a human being strikes me as preferable to the Republican. But if the wise thing to do is to help Ike organize the Senate, then I should vote for the Republican whom I shall not vote for under any circumstance. So what does one do?

When the "Teenage Election Volunteer" comes around to badger me to vote, I intend to ask the baby-sitter or the dog-sitter a few questions in American history, a few more questions about civics which I am told has been discarded as a subject. I shall ask to be told the difference between a Republican and a Democrat.

If the "Teenage Election Volunteer" can answer all the questions, maybe I shall be convinced that I should rush to the polls on Election Day and vote for somebody who believes that he and not I is Napoleon. And who knows? Maybe he is right. If you can believe in Bridey Murphy, you can believe that the guy with the gabby mouth and the fixed smile is a statesman.

Myself, this year, I shall go to the polls to vote for a president and a vice president. So far, about five weeks before the election, I feel that if the voters boycotted bum candidates, the party leaders would have to give them more suitable candidates. Certainly, I cannot vote for anyone with an ADA endorsement because I am not a Socialist and I cannot vote for a Republican who is to the left of Wayne Morse. Maybe, I shall write in a name, some name that represents integrity. Maybe I shall write in Joe Smith.

When Norman Thomas used to run for public office, it was always possible to mark a protest against the politicians by voting for Norman Thomas. But Thomas runs no more and some of those who represent splinter parties are such awful frauds that it is impossible to vote for them even in protest. So what does one do? Maybe the "Teenage Election Volunteer" will educate me on how to drown one's conscience in a sea of campaign deceits.

Ike's Court Appointment Renews Tradition

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower appointed Judge William Joseph Brennan of the New Jersey Supreme Court—a Roman Catholic—to the Supreme Court of the United States he renewed a tradition which has been maintained for the greater part of American history.

The Constitution says, of course, that there must be no religious test as a qualification for high office and presidents have repeatedly said that they appointed the best man available irrespective of any religious backgrounds. But the fact remains that in practical politics every day there is much consideration given to the religious affiliations of the justices of the Supreme Court and it has always been so.

Truman Caused Stir

From the day in 1836 when President Andrew Jackson appointed as chief justice, Roger Taney, a Roman Catholic—who administered the oath to Lincoln—down to the death of Justice Frank Murphy during the Truman administration seven years ago, there have been very few years when a Roman Catholic has not sat on the highest bench of the land. Thus during the administration of President Grover Cleveland in 1894, Edward Douglass White—a Roman Catholic, and a former Confederate soldier as well as United States senator from Louisiana—was appointed to the Supreme Court. It was President William Howard Taft, a Republican, and himself a Unitarian, who in December 1910 promoted Justice White to be chief justice.

Shortly after Chief Justice White passed away, Justice Butler of Minnesota, a Roman Catholic, was appointed by President Harding and he served until 1939. It was in 1940 that President Roosevelt appointed another Roman Catholic—former Governor Murphy of Michigan—to the bench and he served until his death in 1949. Later on the same year Justice Rutledge died and hence President Truman had two chances to appoint a Catholic to maintain the tradition. His refusal to do so—when he appointed Senator Minton and Attorney General Tom Clark—and his reported comment that he would not seek out someone for the bench just because of Catholic religious affiliation made quite a stir in political circles. In fact it was assumed that when he later appointed Senator Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, a Roman Catholic, to be attorney general this was an answer to criticism especially since it was rumored that the next vacancy on the high court would go to McGrath. But Mr. Truman had no further opportunity to make another Supreme Court appointment.

Political gossip has it that Mr. Truman felt deeply the criticism about his failure to appoint a Roman Catholic to the Supreme Court and that this was one reason why to offset it he came out for the resumption of formal diplomatic relations with the Vatican—something which Congress failed to authorize.

There is, of course, no deliberate grouping of a Catholic vote or a Protestant vote or a Jewish vote as such in America but when politicians refer to this they mean that there are nevertheless many voters from each denomination who are influenced by appointments of co-religionists to high office. The problem isn't a simple one for presidents. Thus when President Hoover met the issue simply by ignoring the talk about religion and geography and appointing the man he thought was best qualified for the post. And, as it turned out, Justice Cardozo came to be regarded as one of the great jurists of all times.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

There is a time and a place for everything except a time and a place. That was demonstrated when Winsome Churchill took sides in a parliamentary debate by keeping silent.

The old word-mixer and phrase-grinder sat there as tight-lipped as a drinking hoss. And had no more say about naming the baby than the baby has.

When Winniker dummies up at a debate then the millenium has stripped its gears. The old oratorical marksman holds all trap-shooting medals for the low house, the high house and the optional bird.

It was the early autumn argutonium. When the foolish ant stores away its winter reserve. And the wise grasshopper goes to the Riviera, Capri or Bermuda.

Winnie looks through the glass darkly like a goldfish in a dry bowl. His big moment was when he said, "We shall fight in the streets, we shall fight on the beaches and we shall fight in the hills." Just like an English couple on a bank holiday.

They're afraid the old boy will churn through the Suez Canal with an outboard motor attached to his coat-tails.

He saved England twice by sub-dividing the inevitable and gift-wrapping pigs in a poke.

We have glommed him in victory, we have gandered him in defeat. But never have we seen him clam up when there were questions to be answered. And answers to be questioned.

Nixon And Hall Put Heat On Ike To Conduct Vigorous Campaign

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — What induced the President to change his mind about a hard-hitting campaign was two reports, one from Vice President Nixon, the other from Chairman Len Hall.

Nixon telephoned the White House after his speech in Houston warning that Texas would go Democratic unless Eisenhower went on the hustings with a lot of speeches and tough speeches.

Simultaneously, Len Hall went around to the White House with the most doleful news of all, namely that Washington and Oregon seemed to be veering over to the Democrats and that California looked bad too. Opinion on the latter state came from Nixon, himself a Californian, who expressed the opinion that Senator Tom Kuchel would lose to Democratic candidate Dick Richards unless Ike took a fast trip to the West Coast himself.

Chairman Hall also feared that Senator Magnuson in Washington and Senator Wayne Morse in Oregon were running ahead of Governor Arthur Langlie and ex-Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay.

There's a strong suspicion that the reports laid on Ike's doorstep were not actually as bad as Hall and Nixon indicated: that they exaggerated somewhat in order to put the heat on the President to campaign. Whether this is true or not, the two men got results. The last thing the President wants is to be defeated. He promised to take off the gloves.

Dulles Is Too Jerky

The sudden and mysterious trip of Khrushchev and Tito from Belgrade to Yalta is considered the worst news the West has had since Col. Nasser seized the Suez Canal.

Western diplomats don't know what exactly happened at the hush-hush sessions between Tito and Khrushchev on Tito's private island of Brioni, but they do know what happened before. It all seems to have resulted from another jerky move by John Foster Dulles.

Prior to the Khrushchev-Tito meeting, American military men had OK'd a quantity of jet fighters for the Yugoslav army. This had been approved not only as a part of the U. S. military build-up for the Yugoslav army, but to keep the Russian MIG's out of Yugoslavia.

The jet deal was all set, had been approved by the Pentagon, and Tito had every reason to believe the planes would begin arriving.

Then suddenly John Foster Dulles over-ruled the Pentagon; cancelled the planes.

Dulles was understandably scared of the anti-Tito congressional debate at the time, feared reaction from his own Republican leaders in the Senate. While he may have been right in canceling the jets, the suddenness of the move sent Tito into a tantrum.

He immediately invited the No. 1 Communist of Russia, party boss Khrushchev, to come to Belgrade. There they embraced like long-lost brothers. Final result probably will be complete re-entry of Yugoslavia into the Soviet orbit.

NOTE—Diplomats wish that Mr. Dulles would move a bit slower, not jerk the reins of foreign affairs so hard. If he had stalled Col. Nasser over the Aswan Dam and strug out his denial of funds for a couple of months, Nasser wouldn't have lost face and felt impelled to act against the West by seizing Suez. Likewise if Dulles had delayed a decision on the jets to Tito and stalled on the excuse of American elections, Tito might not have flown into a sudden tantrum and rushed into the arms of the Kremlin.

National Forest Wasted

Charles Porter of Eugene, Ore., who first unearthed the manner in which ex-Secretary of the Interior McKay turned 400 acres of the Rogue River National Forest over to the Al Sarena gold mines, is now making it hot for McKay's successor.

When new Secretary Fred Seaton was in Oregon last summer, Porter proposed that his Interior Department take a new look at the alleged gold ore which the Al Sarena owners claim is valuable enough to entitle them to take over and cut down several acre feet of Douglas fir hitherto owned by Uncle Sam. The ore on which McKay based his ruling was sent all the way to Mobile, Ala., home town of the Al Sarena owners, to be assayed, and later was thrown into a river. So, there's considerable doubt as to whether the ore had any gold in it worth mining.

Porter's proposal put Secretary Eaton on something of a spot. But he tried to get off.

"You tell Senator Neuberger to send his investigating report to the Department of Justice," Seaton replied. "If there's anything wrong, they should act."

It so happens, however, that Neuberger had sent his report to the Justice Department two months before.

So last week in Oregon, Porter made another proposal. He wrote Seaton that Seaton's man in Albany, Ore., Mark L. Wright was ready to make a new assay of Al Sarena ore, and that he, Porter, was ready to put up $100 to pay for the cost of the assay.

Meanwhile, an important Oregon Republican, ex-Governor Charles Sprague, has written in his Salem Oregon Statesman that the "mineral values 'of Al Sarena' are marginal and the decision granting the permits hairline."

In other words, it looks as if priceless Douglas fir in a national forest had been handed over to the friends of Oregon's GOP Congressman Ellsworth just because of his friendship with generous Doug McKay—as this column first reported on October 22, 1954. (Copyright 1956, The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

What's the best month for weather in your section? In New York it is October. At that time it is usually very bright and brisk. No smog. Well, hardly any. On such a beautiful day I worked out from Columbus Circle to Washington Square and finished three-fifth of a second under the record. I wasn't even breathing hard. I figure I am a cinch to win the around the Central Park Reservoir walking handicap. "Toots" Shor was a short priced favorite for this event but he pulled up lame while dancing the rumba at Roseland and has been scratched.

AMONG THE MARRIED

Note it stated people married younger in the so-called "old days." That's wrong. At least it is in this country. Fifty years ago the average bridegroom was 26 and his bride 24. Now the average groom is 22 and the bride 20. Another interesting angle is that young couples are having larger families than they did 50 years ago. Most modern young women appear to think the ideal family is six. Papa, mama and four youngsters.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Why is 13 considered an unlucky number? Why are there 12 people on a jury? A. Thirteen is considered unlucky because that was the number of guests at the Last Supper. In having 12 on a jury the original idea was to have one person from each sign of the zodiac.

SIDELIGHTS

Princess Margaret of Britain really makes a desperate attempt to achieve a stately appearance. She wears five-inch heels. . . . What is the greatest band recording of a popular song ever made? Some people claim it is Artie Shaw's recording of the song titled "What Is This Thing Called Love?"

SMOKERS

Which type of smokers have the worst smoking manners. Those who smoke cigarettes or those who smoke cigars or pipes? It is the pipe smokers. Most of them just can't get along without that pipe no matter where they are. At Juan Les Pins on the French Riviera I saw an Englishman smoking a pipe while dancing. Cigar smokers are the most considerate. Some male cigar smokers have fair manners. The most inconsiderate cigar smokers are young females. They blow smoke over everybody in the vicinity and leave lipstick stained butts everywhere.

PLEASE NOTE

Fifty-six per cent of the people in this country who are retired at 65 are forced to do so. That is more than half of the those retired at 65 think they are still in shape to go on working and want to do so. Those who consider the compulsory retirement idea prevalent in business is unjust point out that many men in government positions are not subject to it. As for example, Senator Theodore Green of Rhode Island who is 88. Also retiring Senator Walter George, Democratic leader, who is 78. Then there is Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn who is 74.

WIFE TRAINING

Anita Ekberg (Mrs. Anthony Steel) is a graduate of a three-year course in domestic science offered by a school in Stockholm. At this school young women are taught sewing, cooking, house-keeping, interior decoration, etc. Also in the art of being a hostess. The general idea being, of course, to prepare them for matrimony. How about that girl you are thinking of marrying, young fellow? Has she a diploma from a domestic science school?

MUSIC

Are you familiar with Chopin's "Sonata Three in B Minor?" Too bad they didn't give works like that more distinctive titles. Anyway, they say it is the great musician's greatest work. He wrote it when he was madly in love with the lady known as George Sand. By the way, how do you pronounce Chopin? That is one of the most frequently mispronounced names of all time. The most mispronounced name of a celebrity is, of course, Van Gogh. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

An ex-GI revisited the town in England where he had been bivouacked during World War Two. At the local inn he was joined by two hospitable brothers, the elder of whom said, "We like Americans here. Be our guest for dinner."

"With pleasure," said the American. "You are just as friendly and generous as a Duchess I met here in 1944. Beautiful old girl, with a great estate just over the hill there, and when I think of the things she did to entertain us . . ."

"What's he saying?" demanded one of the English fellows, who obviously was hard-of-hearing. His brother told him cheerfully, "He knows mother!"

With election time in the offing, here's a good catch question that may trip up your friends: name four men who were candidates at least three times for the office of President. The answer: Grover Cleveland, William Jennings Bryan, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Norman Thomas.

onomy, and other non-nutritional factors. Many inaccurate statements were found but they became less common, starting in the 30s, than they were during the early decades of the century. . No scientific proof could be found, for example, on the following ad: "Tests by school authorities showed that children who had hot cereal breakfasts gained in weight as they should, have redder blood, and do better school work." The same could be said of "grape juice makes rich, red blood."

Erroneous references are made to one food, such as: "Bread is supreme in nutrition, your best food." Another reads: "Tea will poison your system with tannic acid; coffee will make you a nervous wreck; cocoa is a builder of strength and vitality; if you drink it you will enjoy perfect health."

Other examples of exaggerated claims include: "Brazil is noted for a large coffee production. Its people are inveterate coffee drinkers, yet uniformly robust and healthy." And: "Three-fourths of all sickness is traceable to improper elimination."

Improvements in advertising copy have been made through dispensing with words like uniqueness, perfection, and indisputability, as well as statements on the remedial value of foods and objectionable testimonials. The situation is far from perfect because some advertisers continue to exaggerate and make implications through comparison or oversimplification.

Miss Rosenberg says errors of omission continue to be the major failing. She cites the example: "Beans are 84 per cent nutrient and contain 23 per cent protein." This is true of dried beans but the product advertised was canned pork and beans, an analysis of which gave the contents as 68 per cent water, 6.9 per cent protein, 3.3 per cent fat, 19.7 per cent carbohydrate, and 2.1 per cent ash.

Administration Costs $8,502 in Frostburg

Other Figures Cited In Report

FROSTBURG — The Mayor and Commissioners of Frostburg were informed Monday night that $8,502.62 of the $27,297 allocated for administrative expenses in the fiscal year which started July 1 was spent during the first quarter of the year.

The sinking fund appropriation for the present fiscal year is $25,230, of which $10,360.85 has been spent, $7,000 for the redemption of bonds, and $881.25 in interest.

Expenditures on the swimming pool in September were $790.21, making the three month total $3,470.72, while the street department expense during September was $5,345.77, of which $4,417.87 was for salaries, $375.69 capital improvements, and $552.21 operating expense. A balance of $42,836.55 remains in this account to cover the expenditures in the coming nine month period.

The police department with a budget for the year set up at $38,303 has spent $12,199.53 to date, and $7,927.66 has been appropriated to the fire department out of a total of $9,136 allocated to this department.

The water department with a $40,000 budget, has balance of $27,850.20 in its account, having spent $3,673.43 in September, and $8,475.25 in July and August, or a total expenditure to date of $12,148.68.

From a budget of $7,882, set up for the operation of the street lighting department in 1956-1957, $664.89 was spent in September, and a total of $1,987.79 spent in July, August and September.

Of the $18,000 earmarked for the retirement and interest payments on the water bonds—a balance of $15,000 still remains.

Mayor Joseph James has called all city department heads to keep their spending to an absolute minimum. He states that only with the practice of strict economy will it be possible to keep within the budget; and at the meeting Monday evening, James made it clear why, with such a limited budget, it is impossible to build streets and lay new sewer and water lines to homes which have been built in the outlying sections of the city.

One-Way Plan Draws Protest

FROSTBURG—Several citizens and businessmen from the Bowers-McCulloh street section appeared before the mayor and commissioners Monday night to complain about the traffic changes which were put into effect recently.

James G. Neilson, operator of a lumber yard and building supplies business on McCulloh Street, stated that since Bowers has been made a one-way thoroughfare his business has been definitely hurt. He said that in order to make deliveries to some parts of the city he is obliged to drive much farther due to the changes now in effect.

Mayor Joseph James reassured Neilson that it was not the intent of city authorities to hurt anyone. If, after a trial period, the present traffic setup was found to be unsatisfactory it would be discontinued, he said.

34,000 To See Series Opener Today At Ebbets Field

Ford, Maglie To Toe Slab In First Tilt

President Eisenhower To See Game; Fair Weather Is Forecast

By JACK HAND

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Sal Maglie, Brooklyn's 39-year-old "comeback kid," faces Whitey Ford, the New York Yankees' lefthanded ace, in the opener of the seventh Dodger-Yank World Series tomorrow at Ebbets Field with President Eisenhower in a box near the home dugout.

Although the Yanks were beaten by the Dodgers last fall in seven games and must play the first two games in enemy territory, the oddsmakers rate the American League champions 3 to 2 favorites to win the best-of-seven series. The opener is 6 to 5 and take your pick.

Probable Lineups Of Today's Game

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—Probable lineups for the opening game of the World Series at Ebbets Field tomorrow:

Yankees	Dodgers
Bauer, rf	Gilliam, 2b
Slaughter, cf	Reese, ss
Manlie, lf	Snider, cf
Berra, c	Robinson 3b
Skowron, 1b	Hodges, 1b
McDougald, ss	Furillo, rf
Martin, 2b	Campanella, c
Carey, 3b	Amoros, lf
Ford, p	Maglie, p

Fair weather with temperatures around 65 was forecast for game time at 1 p.m. (EDT) with between 34,000 and 36,000 in the stands. The game was to be on network radio (Mutual) and television (NBC).

Doubtful Starter

Maglie, rescued from the scrap heap when he was acquired on waivers from Cleveland in mid-May, had been a doubtful starter because of a stiff arm. When he told Manager Walter Alton he was ready at today's final workout, old Sal got the nod.

"My shoulder is a little stiff," said Maglie. "But I am sure it will be okay tomorrow."

It was Maglie who inspired the Brooks to their driving finish that finally won the pennant from Milwaukee. He threw a no-hitter at Philadelphia a week ago and started the Dodgers on the way to a vital doubleheader sweep over Pittsburgh by winning Saturday's first game.

Maglie (13-5) will be working with only three days rest. However, he has done the same thing in his two most recent starts, including the no-hitter. A cunning curve ball pitcher with sharp control and an uncanny ability to cash in on a batter's weakness, Maglie is a real "old pro."

In Maglie's only series start against the Yankees he lasted five innings for the New York Giants in the fourth game in 1951. He was charged with the defeat.

Amoros To Play
Because of Sandy Amoros' two home runs Sunday and his hot batting streak, Alton decided to use the lefthanded batting outfielder against a lefthanded pitcher for the first time.

Amoros had been criticized by his own mates last week when he dropped a fly ball in a losing game with Philadelphia.

Ford (19-6) beat the Dodgers twice last year, both times at Yankee Stadium, and lasted only one inning in 1953 at Ebbets Field. Although the Brooklyn Park is supposed to be a graveyard for lefthanders, Johnny Antonelli of the Giants and Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati beat the Dodgers in their own park with its handy left field stands this year.

Manager Casey Stengel described Ford as "a big league professional pitcher" before today's final workout. "I can't rest my No. 1 because they say it's a bad park for him. Between you and me, he has pitched the best ball on the team. If I wait for the right park, the series will be over."

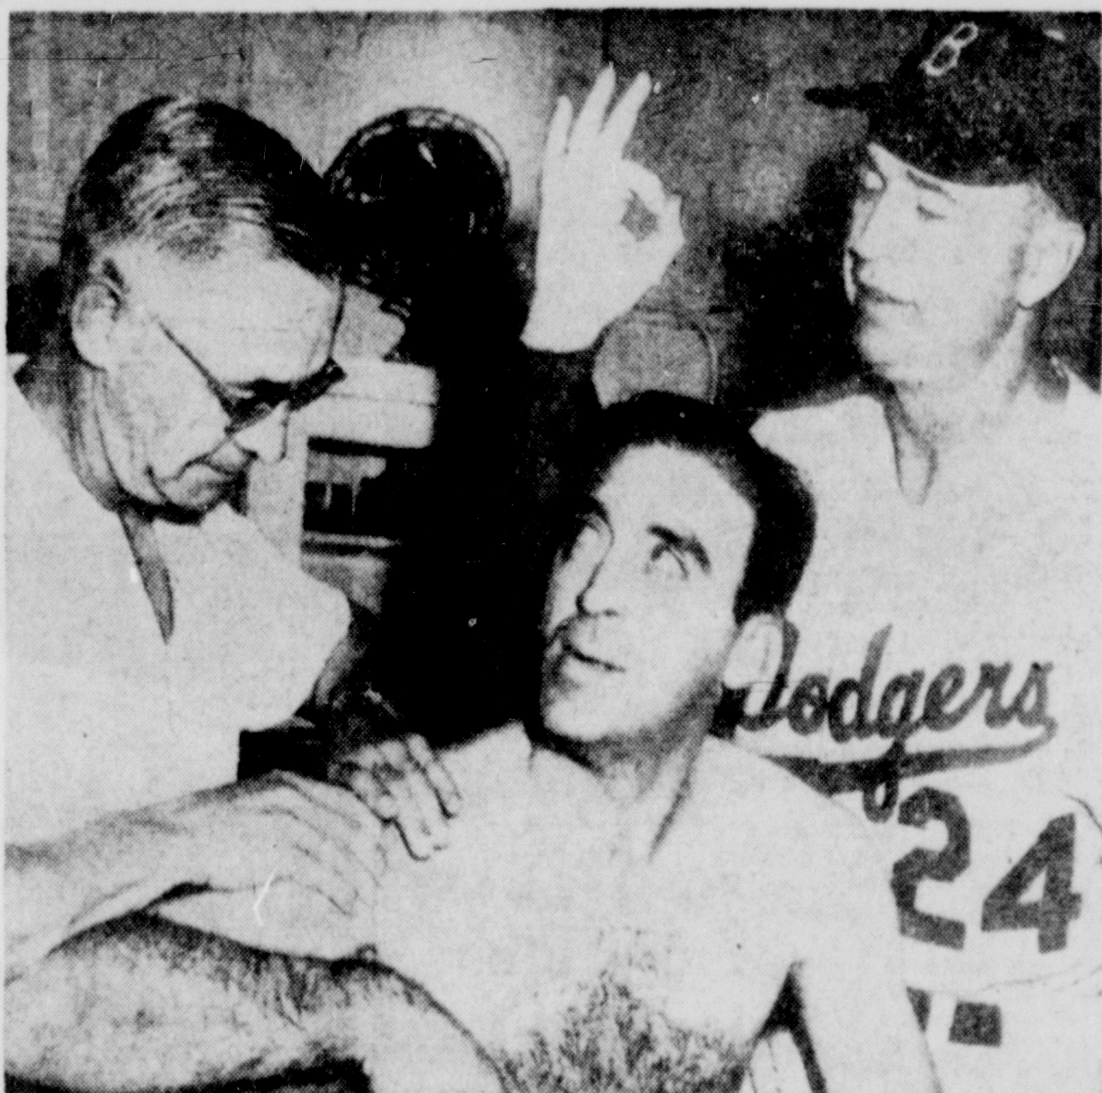

Stengel indicated Don Larsen (11-5) will be his second game pitcher but added, "If we win the first, I might change my mind." Alton said Don Newcombe (27-7) would be Brooklyn's second game starter.

Yanks Have No Surprises

There were no surprises in Stengel's starting lineup or batting order with centerfielder Mickey Vannelli, the American League triple champion in hitting, homers and runs batted in, flanked by 40-year-old Enos "Country" Slaughter and Hank Bauer.

Bill Skowron got the starting job at first over lefthanded-hitting Joe Collins "because Skowron is hitting way over his average." Gil McDougald at short, Billy Martin at second and Andy Casey at third round out the infield, with Yogi Berra catching.

With the exception of Duke Snider and Amoros, the Dodgers will shoot a righthanded batting order at Ford whose best pitch is the curve ball. Men like Jackie Robinson, Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo are extra dangerous in Ebbets Field.

WELL ARMED FOR OPENER—Brooklyn Dodger Manager Walter Alton makes the okay sign as trainer Harold Wendler kneads the right arm of veteran hurler Sal Maglie. Wendler feels that the curve-baller's arm is in condition to hurl the World Series opener against the New York Yankees today at Ebbets Field. Wendler checked the Barber's flipper before yesterday's warm-up session by the Dodgers. (AP Photofax)

Navy's Second Team To Start

Play Better Ball As Unit, Coach Says

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 2 (AP)—Navy's entire second team moved into a starting role today for Saturday's football game against Cornell. Coach Eddie Erdelatz switched them ahead of the former first stringers after viewing movies of last Saturday's 39-14 opening victory over William and Mary.

"They looked better as a unit than the first team," he told a news conference, "and they'll be our starters Saturday."

Erdelatz said some of the players demoted might still be better individual football players than their replacements, "but they've got to learn a lesson."

"Football is a team game and you've got to play as a team—not as individuals," he said. He said he planned to alternate them as units against Cornell, which lost to Colgate 34-6 last week, and decide after that whether to juggle any individual players.

Bounced out of starting roles were such Navy stalwarts as center Wilson Whitmire, halfback Ned Oldham, guards Tony Stremic and Jim Hower and right end and captain Earle Smith. Sophomore fullback Dick Dagampat, tabbed by sports writers as the best back in Saturday's game, also went down on the second team.

It was the first demotion of an entire team in Erdelatz's seven seasons here and gave added indication of the depth Navy appears to have despite the squad's overall lack of experience.

World Series Notes

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—When the President of the United States attends a World Series game, it calls for a lot of extra doing.

The box seat layout had to be revised for President Eisenhower's visit to Ebbets Field tomorrow. The chief executive, with a party of 12 (Mamie's not going) will sit near the Brooklyn dugout and will toss out the first ball.

He will arrive at 12:35 p.m. (EDT)—25 minutes before the start.

Twenty Secret Service men will be spotted—unrecognizable—at various key spots. A group of the T-men made a thorough inspection of the Ebbets Field layout today.

Wonder if Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson, who'll attend the opener at Yankee Stadium Friday, will ask equal time—and equal seating space?

The last president to attend a World Series game was the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, who watched the Yankees beat the Giants at the Polo Grounds in 1936.

"I remember I caught Hank Leiber's fly for the final out," Joe Dimaggio recalls. "I ran up the steps to the dressing room, only and outlying inns are also loaded to find it locked. I just had to stand there with the ball in my hand. Nobody could leave the park until the President had made his exit."

Fans recall that during the depression era, when Herbert Hoover attended a game, the spectators chanted, "We want beer."

The city will have 500 uniformed policemen on hand to direct traffic, watch pickpockets and keep order.

Pity the poor ticket scalpers. The television age has cut into their huge profits. They're moaning that they can make no more than 100 and 150 per cent profit on sales this year.

For the four games at Brooklyn, where the list price is $29.40, scalpers say they'll do well to get $65. The three Yankee games, with a face value of $22.05, are being unloaded for $65 also—$5 if the seats are exceptionally good.

"We used to get $100 easy," said one operator.

Tougher to get than tickets are hotel rooms. Hostelties in both Manhattan and Brooklyn closed Dimaggio recalls. "I ran up the steps to the dressing room, only and outlying inns are also loaded to find it locked. I just had to

Mont Moves Hamilton To Halfback

Fullback To Replace Injured Jack Healy

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 2 (AP)—Fred Hamilton was moved from fullback to right halfback today by Coach Tommy Mont of Maryland as a replacement for Jack Healy, who probably will be kept out of Saturday's game against Baylor with a sprained ankle.

Healy, catcher of the touchdown pass in Maryland's 6-0 victory over Wake Forest last Saturday, played 58 minutes of that game with the sprain.

"I just couldn't afford to take him out," said Mont today. But playing on the sprain so aggravated it that Healy's ability to play Saturday is "very, very doubtful."

Hamilton won the starting fullback spot last week against Wake Forest. His switch to halfback illustrates graphically how the situation has changed for Mont in his first year of head coaching Maryland.

Last spring, he thought was set at fullback and had returned Hamilton to halfback. But this fall, he found it necessary to move him back to fullback where he had played last season after entering Maryland as a halfback. Now he's back at halfback.

Bob Layman, a second string halfback hospitalized with an appendicitis scare that turned out to be virus, was released but able only to watch practice along with two others confined overnight with the bug, first and second string ends, Ed Cooke and Dick Porter.

Beecham To Seek Win Over Constance

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 2 (AP)—Jimmy Beecham, 21-year-old welterweight from Philadelphia, will try for his second victory over Hector Constance, the Trinidad veteran, in the 10-round feature tomorrow night at Miami Beach Auditorium.

The fight will be televised and broadcast nationally by ABC, starting at 9 p.m. (EST). Half the gross gate, minus taxes, will be given to the Babe Zaharias Cancer Foundation.

When Beecham defeated the 25-year-old Constance last December in Caracas, Venezuela, the loser called it an "atrocious decision" and said he hopes to prove here that "I can beat Beecham."

Fire Damages Park Of Chicago Sox

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (INS)—A fire swept through the grandstand behind home plate at Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox, this afternoon while the Cardinal football team was practicing on the field.

Firemen battling the two-alarm fire said damage was estimated at more than $20,000.

Flames leaped 30 to 40 feet in the air.

Charles Loses London Bout

Disqualified For Holding Richardson

LONDON, Oct. 2 (AP)—Dick Richardson, Britain's 22-year-old heavyweight hope, scored a wildly disputed and heavily booed victory over Ezzard Charles tonight when the former world champion was disqualified in the second round for "persistent holding."

A packed house of 11,000 fans in Harringay Arena set up waves of booing and derisive laughter which lasted for five minutes after Referee Frank Wilson lifted Richardson's hand in victory.

Charles, once a sleek and fast 182-pound world title holder looked hazy eyed and a flabby 202 in defeat. Richardson weighed 203½.

Referee Wilson cautioned him for holding three times in the first round and made two trips to the former world champion's corner to warn both him and his handler. The referee called off the fight after 2 minutes, 29 seconds of the second round.

It was the fourth defeat in six fights this year for the faded, 35-year-old boxer from Cincinnati. Since his two beatings by then champion Rocky Marciano in 1954, Charles lost nine of 17 fights, two of them by knockouts.

Richardson, a Welsh milkman who has been a pro only 21 months, had won 16 of 18 fights before tonight, 13 of them by knockouts.

This was to have been his first major test. Not a single blow of any power was struck by either men in the bob-tailed contest.

TD Is Possible In No Time With New Grid Rules

NEW YORK, Oct. 2 (AP)—A touchdown in no time at all—it's possible in intercollegiate football under this year's rules.

Reviewing the rules changes at the season's first meeting of the New York Football Writers Assn. today, Charles Tucker of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Officials Assn. explained how it can be done.

It's simple. The kicking team recovers the ball in the end zone for a touchdown.

Under this year's rules, the clock isn't started on a kickoff until the ball has been legally touched by either the receiving or kicking side. But time is out again the instant a touchdown is scored. Time still is out for the conversion, so a team can make it 7-0 before the clock ever starts.

Bruce High's Bulldogs battled off-chance Valley to a 2-2 deadlock at Westernport and Mt. Savage and Beall played a scoreless tie at Mt. Savage yesterday's Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League contests.

Both Bruce and Valley tallied twice in the third period of their hard-fought game. The tie was only the third against Coach Johnny Meyer's Black Knights in four years. The Knights have not lost since 1953. Bruce also blighted the Knights' record last season with a 2-2 tie when Valley won the championship with a 7-6-1 mark. The game was the opener for the Westernporters this season.

Ronnie "Butch" Young scored both field goals for Valley on assists from Barclay and Johnny Johnson. Clyde Beard and Bill Bennett tallied from the field for Bruce. Each assisted the other in the score.

Outstanding players for Valley were Marvin Metts, Young and Johnson. Best for Coach Leonard Ritchie's Bulldogs were Bennett, Beard and Donnie Wilkinson.

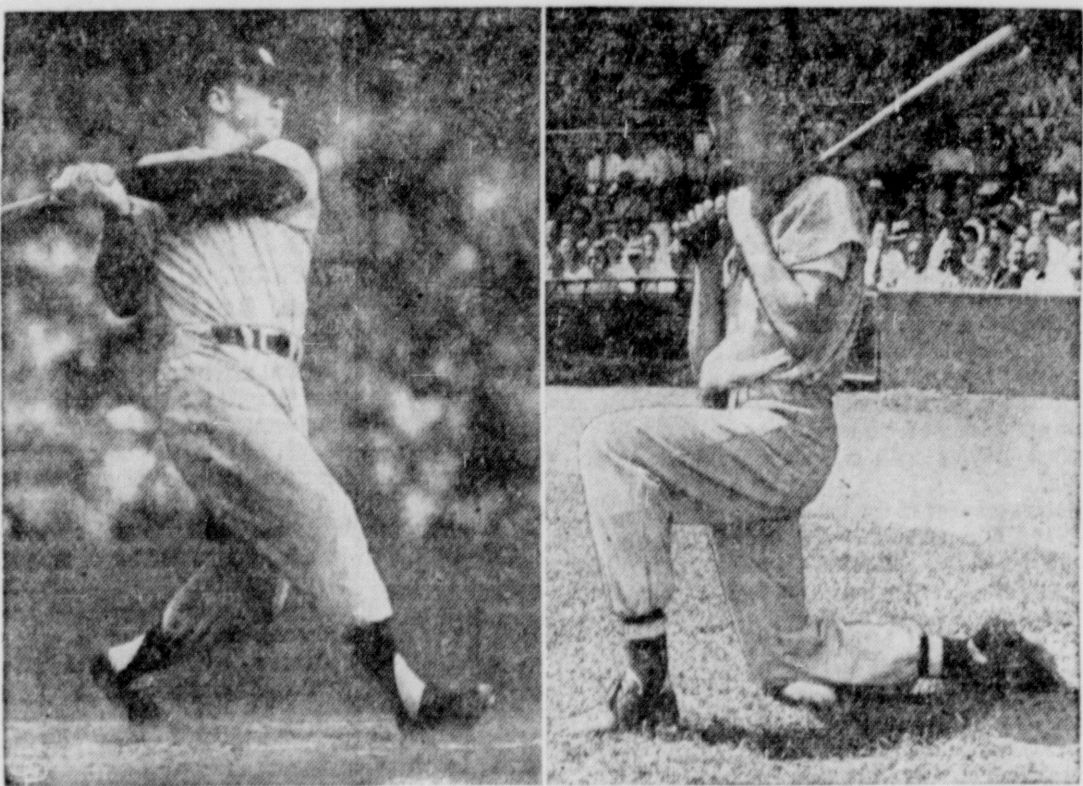

Beall, seeking its second win of the new campaign, was halted by Mt. Savage in the scoreless defensive game at Mt. Savage. The Braves coached by John Thomas, lost to Valley in their opener while Beall defeated Flintstone who was idle today.

Neither team had many opportunities to score with play being contained almost entirely in mid-field. Outstanding for Beall were Joe Carter, Lou Llewellyn, Zane Fatkin, Pat Fram and Clarence Hall. Best bets for Mt. Savage, who lost last week to Valley, were Roy Hott, Jim Henckel, Wayne Duckworth, Jim Harden and George Bishields. The line ups:

Secret Service Men Attend Dodger Drills

Check Field For Visit By The President

BROOKLYN, Oct. 2 (AP)—There were nearly as many secret service men as reporters attending the Brooklyn Dodgers' pre-series workout at Ebbets Field today.

The government agents probably didn't know Walter Alston from Casey Stengel and cared less. Actually, they came to Ebbets Field on assignment from Washington, to inspect the park, search the ball field and check the exact location where President Eisenhower will sit tomorrow when he, and his party will attend the opening game of the 1956 World Series between Brooklyn and New York.

Unaware of the presence of the President's advance guard, the Dodgers staged a two-hour workout in preparation for the series. Sal Maglie, now a certainty to pitch the opener, reported he was fit and ready and said he was anxiously awaiting his important assignment.

"I'm looking forward to it with eagerness," he said. "But I'm not any more nervous about it than I would be if I were to pitch in a regular season game. In fact, I think there was more pressure on me when I pitched those big games against Cincinnati and Milwaukee."

"I feel a lot better today than I did yesterday," he added. "My shoulder is only slightly stiff and I'm sure it will be all right tomorrow. The stomach disorder I had yesterday, has disappeared entirely."

Manager Alston, besides confirming Maglie as his first game starter, named Don Newcombe, his 27-game winner, as the pitcher for the second game against the Yankees, also at Ebbets Field.

Ft. Hill Seeks 13th Straight Win At Beall

LaSalle To Host Highland Eleven

Fort Hill High's Sentinels, victorious in three straight games this season, will strive to register their 13th straight triumph when they travel to Frostburg to battle Beall High's Mountaineers, Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Although the No. 13 is sometimes a jinx it doesn't appear now that the charges of Coach Bill Hahn will have any trouble extending the long winning streak.

Freshman coach James Manges, a protégé of Coach Hahn, will strive to show that the pupil can beat the teacher but records indicate Beall is not strong enough. The Mountaineers have won one of three games.

In the other top-notch attraction here Friday night will find LaSalle's Explorers, losers of three straight, seeking to win their first game of the season when the locals host Highland Hall of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

The Highland Hall Highlanders will be opening a six-game season with the locals and will bring a 25-man squad here by bus for the encounter.

The Highland eleven is a product of a new school sponsored by Franciscan priests in Hollidaysburg.

Several other long series are on tap Friday when University High School of Morgantown battles Romney's Pioneers at Romney, Moorefield plays host to Ridgeley in a PVC encounter and Charles Town and Martinsburg clash at Martinsburg.

Moorefield's unbeaten Yellowjackets will catch Ridgeley's Hawks on the rebound from a 20-0 defeat last week at the hands of Keyser. Ridgeley has won three games.

Moorefield has captured three straight conference tilts and played a non-conference scoreless tie with Greenbank.

Other games Friday: Franklin at Petersburg (PVC), Southern, Oakland, at St. Francis, Morgantown.

Northern at Terra Alta, Berkeley Springs at Harpers Ferry.

Portage at Bedford, Handley at Frederick (CVAL), Chambersburg at Hagerstown, Potomac State vs. Salem at Clarksburg.

Shepherd at Newport News, and held it the rest of the way. An 11-game streak in July gave them a lead of 11 games.

Rites Are Planned For Von Tilzer

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Oct. 2 (INS)—Arrangements were completed today to hold funeral services for Albert Von Tilzer, co-composer of "Take Me Out To The Ball Game," tomorrow, opening day of the world series.

The rites will be conducted at a Beverly Hills mortuary two hours after the world series opens in New York to the strains of Von Tilzer's famous theme song of the national pastime.

Hickory Smoke Wins Shafter

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 2 (INS)—Hickory Smoke won the $14,450 Shafter Stake for two-year-old trotters today by being declared the best finisher in the summary at the Lexington trots.

Speed honors, however, went to Demon Rum, winner of the second heat. Demon Rum, owned by the Harrison-Shields stable of Pittsburgh, was clocked in 2:02, the fastest mile of the season by a two-year-old trotter.

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees, in winning their 22nd American League pennant in 36 seasons, were out of first place only 10 days during the season. They took the lead on May 16.

Newcomers Lead College Offenses

[By The Associated Press] Newcomers to the national spotlight are showing the way to the veterans in scoring and moving the ball in major college football competition.

The leading scorer is Bobby Jordan, a Virginia Military Institute junior halfback with 40 points in three games, on six touchdowns for four extra points.

Top man in total offense and passing is Ralph Hunsaker, Arizona's sophomore halfback. The Westerner, who picked up only 312 yards all last season while playing with the varsity in his frosh year, has rolled up 508 yards on 65 rushing and 443 passing. His 30 completions make him the No. 1 man with the arm.

Wonder Bar Loses

Wonder Bar dropped a 12-6 decision to the Park Punks in the City Touch Football League yesterday at Penn Avenue field. The Punks tallied on a 30-yard pass to Ronnie Cage and again on Cage's toss to George Schoenadel. Wonder Bar tallied on Lee Cover's aerial to Paul Stickley for 45 yards. The score:

Chris Stoner Accepts Coaching Post At Somerset High

Cage Mentor Resigns Post At Hyndman

Won Two District 5 Titles At Helm Of Pennsylvania Quint

Chris Stoner, likeable young basketball coach at Hyndman - Londonderry High School, has resigned his post there to accept the position of head cage mentor at Somerset High, Somerset, Pa.

A graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers College, Stoner has been at the helm of Hyndman's basketball teams for the past four years.

No One In Mind

Principal Lloyd Keller of Hyndman said he is accepting Stoner's resignation with regret and wishes the young coach every success at his new job. He said the decision by Stoner to leave Hyndman has left the Hornets without a physical education director and cage coach. Keller said he had no one in mind yet to replace Stoner, adding he had not yet begun receiving applications for the post.

Stoner took over the helm of the Hyndman basketball quints in 1952 after his graduation from Slippery Rock. He immediately welded the team into a high-scoring unit and produced one of the area's top scorers in Bruce May during his stay.

Twice his teams captured the Pennsylvania District 5 championship, but lost out in later playoffs for the state title, in 1954 and 1956.

Won 67 Victories

During his four-years tenure at Hyndman Stoner's teams registered 67 victories while losing 41 games. His squad ended this past season with a 15-11 mark while scoring 1,616 points in the 26 games.

Keller said last night that the new coach will step into the position of fielding a veteran team at Hyndman this year. The squad lost only Ed Ringler and Ronnie Stahlman from the varsity. Among the veterans returning will be Don Shaffer, Chris Ringler, Bill Brooks, Calvin Kirchner and Charles Twigg, he added.

Lugar Leads SC Offense

Virginia Tech Back Was Second-Stringer

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 2 (AP)—A balding junior quarterback who was supposed to play a second-string role this season is the Southern Conference's early-season leader in total offense.

He's Jimmy Lugar of Virginia Tech, who gained a starting berth only after veteran Billy Cranwell suffered a disabling pre-season leg injury.

A 5-10, 170-pound native of Roanoke, Va., Lugar also tops the conference's passers, according to the first statistical report of the Southern Conference News Bureau.

Tech's Bobby Wolfenden completes a Gobbler sweep of the top individual department, leading the league in rushing with a 212-yard total, more than half of which came in Tech's 35-6 triumph over North Carolina State Saturday.

Lugar has compiled 267 yards through passing and running. Wolfenden ranks second in total offense, although his yardage is entirely from rushing.

The league's top five players in total offense represent either Virginia Tech or Virginia Military. Behind Lugar and Wolfenden are VMI's Duke Johnston, Sam Woolwine and Bobby Jordan.

In other specialized departments Jordan leads the league's pass-catchers with seven receptions, two of which were good for touchdowns. Richmond's Buddy Davis, averaging a whopping 43 yards, leads the loop's punters, although Jordan is close behind with a 42.3-yard average.

Tipton Still Coaching

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Coaches have come and gone at William and Mary, but Eric Tipton, the former Duke University football star and major league outfielder stays on and on. Tipton, the Indians' backfield mentor, has been coaching at W&M since his graduation from Duke in 1939.

Legion Is Defending Women's Champion

The Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League will open its ninth season today with six matches carded tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the 12-team circuit.

Opening the firing will be Frostburg American Legion at Purple Heart; Southern Bar at Green's Chevrolet; Cumberland Owls at Hi Dee Club; Woodmen of the World at Clingerman's; Frostburg Eagles at Golden Nuggets; and Pocahontas at Fisher & Robinette.

The loop will go into the new season with 12 teams although three of its veteran clubs dropped out of the circuit.

Cas Taylor's, Frostburg Stadium Inn and Cresaptown dropped their franchise in the league but were replaced by newcomers, Southern Bar, Fisher & Robinette and Cumberland Owls.

Returning again to the fold are Frostburg Legion, Purple Heart, Green's, Hi Dee, WOW, Clingerman's Eagles, Nuggets and Pocahontas.

Frostburg's Legion crew will be striving for its fourth straight championship, having won the past three years and four times altogether in the eight seasons. Other past champions include Stadium Inn twice, Cresaptown and WOW.

Esther Lancaster was replaced this year by Rachel Muir as treasurer for the loop.

The league will shoot every Wednesday.

The men's and women's golf associations of the Cumberland Country Club will hold a dinner program at the club Thursday beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Prizes and awards for tournaments and golfing feats will be given and the program chairman has announced that colored movies of local golfers in action will be shown at the affair. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 2 (INS)—Just temporary. There is a book What nostalgic memories this about our President with this brings! "The Life and Loves of..." This is really an independent venture for Scott, who has also signed Bill Williams. Mala certainly keeps busy — she just finished "Man on a Motorcycle" for U-A a few days ago.

The thing that Debbie Reynolds minded most about losing in the thing that wrecked part of the fisher house were the scrapbooks that she had kept from her first date with Eddie on June 17, 1934. Debbie told me that my I.N.S. serial, and all the things that I wrote, from the first exclusive I had on their romance to several modern screen stories, were replaced, of course, but the scrapbooks were a matter of sentiment to her.

When I say that Etchika Choureaux, blondish-red-headed French actress, bowed them over on the Warner lot, that is the understatement of the year. Etchika arrived in town over the weekend, having been signed by William Wellman for "C'est La Guerre," opposite Tab Hunter.

When I asked if Etchika speaks English I was told, "Adequately," and that her role doesn't call for a lot of chatter. She is not unknown, in films, having made pictures in Paris and, oh! I forgot to say, she has green eyes.

When I heard that Mala Powers and Scott Brady were to co-star in "The Man From Abilene," I thought it was a story of President Eisenhower — but it isn't. Scott and his partner, Bernard Glasser, says that this title is picking out tomatoes and fruit like mad at one of the big markets.

Former tennis champion Alice Marble is working as a medical assistant in the San Fernando Valley. What a gal she was on the tennis courts!

No answer to the cable Bill Haley and his Comets sent to Queen Elizabeth offering to do a command performance, but Bill will rock 'n' roll in England anyway in January. His mother was born there.

Jimmy Durante with a party of ten; Joe DiMaggio back for the second time, and well — the Mocambo was filled with people to hear Roberta Sherwood. Business hasn't been that good in ages.

Have Nanette Fabray and Marty Mills called it a day? She was dining with Alan Chay at the Circle J Ranch in Newhall.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

16 Men Compose Hofstra Team

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., Oct. 2 (AP)—Hofstra, one of four colleges in the greater New York City area still maintaining a football team, has only 16 able-bodied athletes on its squad for Saturday's game with Maryland State.

Coach Howdy Myers started the training season with 20 men. Four regulars, including both co-captains, were injured in last Saturday's 19-7 conquest of St. Lawrence. None is expected back for at least 10 days.

Negro Is Signed

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2 (AP)—Charley Fields, a Negro athlete from Oakland, Calif., has been signed by the Philadelphia Phillies to a 1957 contract with the club's Class C, Pioneer League affiliate, Salt Lake City. Fields, 6-foot, nine inches tall and 190-pounds is a catcher who bats and throws right handed.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Cross-Pollinated With Medic

When Jack Webb started "Dragnet," he researched police procedures with extraordinary thoroughness and bequeathed the world such immortal dialogue as: "211" (Penal code 211 otherwise known as robbery), "MWA" (Male, white, American) and "Time - 12:23" (Time - 12:23). Originally, it was refreshingly direct and authentic, this form of communication, but it got to be a cliché and finally a joke.

Now, Mr. Webb has launched another enterprise, "Noah's Ark," and for this one he seems to have researched practically everything but the police stations from soap operas to successful B pictures. "Noah's Ark," which has exactly nothing to do with the distinguished gentleman from the Bible, is Young Dr. Kildare with animals. Instead of "4127 A-LAMC" (drunk) we now get: "Demerol - 100 milligrams." Later, I expect, will come "Scalpel, Forceps, Suture." Maybe Even: "Respiration 112, Pulse 82 - and sinking." All this about monkeys.

The juxtaposition of medicine with animals may be the greatest dramatic cross-breeding since Mary Roberts Rinehart discovered that humor went down better with murder. The hospital bit has proved fascinating in everything from "Men in White" to "This Is Nora Drake." And, of course, the animals - Lassie, Rin Tin Tin, Trigger, J. Fred Muggs - have always done well on television. So what could be more logical than stretching Lassie out on the operating table and calling for a hypodermic? It, as they say on "Dragnet," figures.

However, Mr. Webb apparently decided he couldn't open cold in the dispensary so there was a preliminary program. He explained just what a TV program should do (sell products); how many ideas had been discussed before this one was settled upon (200), and then introduced the cast. A character actor, (Victor Rodman) who plays the equivalent of Lionel Barrymore in the show, told how he loved to play doctors. The love interest (May Wynn) listed modern ballet and having her own apartment among her favorite things in life. All in all, it may easily have been the biggest waste of network time since the Republican National Convention.

On the second show, they got down to cases. Noah McCann, a young veterinarian, arrives at the office of the old veterinarian, and discovers the old gentlemen in a wheelchair, too sick to practice, the books in a shambles, the secretary (Miss Wynn) unpaid but burning with selflessness.

While everyone is brooding about this unhappy state of affairs, a Seeing Eye dog is carried in. Just been run over after saving the life of its blind mistress. Noah leaps for the scalpel. "You're a good surgeon - fine touch," mutters the old doctor gruffly.

"How much do I owe you?" asks the blind girl. "Seeing Eye dog. No charge," Noah writes on her pad. "What did you charge her?" asks the old doc. "Exactly what you would have charged, doctor?" says Noah. "Harrumph," exclaims the old boy gruffly.

Well, say what you will, but this sort of analgesic moonshine ran for generations in the movies. And they didn't even have monkeys on Dr. Kildare. Just people, those old-fashioned things.

Ahead of us, according to Mr. Webb are stories about a monkey who had earned a good living at children's parties until he lost all his teeth, about a circus lion that suddenly turned vicious, and similar other goodies. If the combination of iodine and nobility doesn't overpower you, you'll find the series extremely well done. Paul Burke who plays Noah is an attractive youngster; Rodman is a very good character actor; and the dialogue and photography are about as good as anyone could manage within the limits Webb has set himself. Webb rarely does anything badly.

If the series runs the normal course of medico-drama, it will exhaust all the physical ailments the first year. Next year, the seeing eye dogs will be suffering from hysterical blindness, anxiety neuroses, or psychosomatic

Banker Learns Pants Not Safe Place For Keys

INNSBRUCK, Austria, Oct. 2.—Banker Karl Stephan put on his pants yesterday and found the keys to the bank safe were gone from a pocket.

Missing also was about $8,400 in Austrian currency and foreign exchange receipts from the Bank of Scharnitz.

Police are looking for thieves who evidently knew where Stephan hung up his pants at night.

Soil Bank Payments Total Over $3 Million

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it paid out nearly 3½ million dollars to farmers in the soil bank program up to Sept. 21.

At the same time, it said the total of payments for 1956 probably will be somewhat less than the almost 261 million dollars which it had originally estimated.

The program was set up by Congress this year, with both Democrats and Republicans claiming authorship. Its purpose is to attack the farm surplus problem by paying farmers to divert acreage from unneeded production.

Club Makes Appeal For Equipment

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan Sunday appealed for donations or equipment for the Police Boys Club sponsored by the department.

Equipment is at a low ebb and funds are even lower, Keegan said. Basketballs, footballs, boxing gloves and similar gear is needed, he added.

Anyone wishing to donate may contact Keegan, Officer John Daum, who is in charge of the club, or the Police Department.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long suggested Commissioner Keegan might work out some arrangement with the Recreation Department on the matter.

The club meets Saturday mornings at Fort Hill High School.

Board Approves Tax Refund

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday approved a 50 per cent refund on 1956 taxes paid by the Junior Order United American Mechanics on its property on North Railroad Street in Barton.

They also granted a 50 per cent tax exemption on the $4,030 assessment for 1957 and thereafter. Part of the property is rented out.

Oliver Scott, of LaVale, wrote the board to ask that something be done to "her road." She said she would be willing to give the land needed for any improvement. The name of the road was not given in the letter. The letter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor.

Four Men Receive Induction Notices

Four local men will leave for induction into the armed forces at Fairmont on October 11, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk coordinator for the local Selective Service Board.

Fahey said yesterday two men will be called from Board 27, and one each from Board 28 and Board 29.

Eight local men will leave with the group for physicals, including seven from Board 28 and one from Board 29, Fahey said.

Board 30 in Frostburg will send three men for induction and 15 others for physicals with the local youths.

Leaving for induction from Frostburg will be Robert E. Raines, Westernport; Enordo R. Arnone, Eckhart, and George D. Robertson Jr., Barton.

Fahey said the local men will depart from the Post Office building at 7 a.m. (EST) by chartered bus, and will stop in Frostburg to pick up the 18 youths there.

Three Area Men Enlist In Navy

Three area men who enlisted in the U. S. Navy here last week have been assigned to the Naval Training Center at Bainbridge for nine weeks basic training, according to Chief Louis W. Knott, recruiter.

The men are John Richard Michaels, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Michaels of Kitzmiller; Bobby Ray Sweitzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Onie M. Sweitzer, also of Kitzmiller, and Harry Clifford Pebley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Pebley of Manns Choice, Pa.

Pebley was guaranteed a school for training in the electronics field by taking advantage of the Navy's high school graduate program, which assures high school graduates a choice of special training in one of 55 trade schools.

Goren On Bridge

East-West vulnerable. South diamond lead will be forced, and declarer picks up the entire suit. (Copyright 1956: The Chicago Tribune)

The bidding: South 1 heart, West 1 heart, North 1 heart, East 1 heart.

Opening lead: Jack of clubs.

Departure from the strictness of the arithmetical tables will sometimes afford declarer a better mathematical chance for success. Today's hand is offered in support of this paradoxical statement.

The contract of four hearts was reached with great promptness and North's pre-emptive raise, while bold, was not unreasonable.

West led the jack of clubs, which held, and the suit was continued for three rounds. When declarer ruffed there seemed nothing to it but the heart finesse: so he entered dummy by playing the ace and another spade. When the trump finesse failed West returned a heart and the defenders sat back in their chairs waiting for the diamond trick which declarer had to concede in the end.

Our own suggested line of play involves refusal to take the trump finesse. This may sound like a self-contradiction because for many years we have announced to our students that the best percentage play to capture the king with 10 trumps is the finesse rather than the play for the drop. But this hand has considerations all its own.

If declarer can contrive to make the defenders lead a diamond, a trick in that suit need not be lost. In order to compel a diamond lead declarer must make it impossible for the defense profitably to lead anything else. The manner in which that end can be accomplished is this: After ruffing the third club declarer cashes the ace of spades and ruffs a spade in dummy. He returns with the jack of hearts intending, of course, to play the ace (which will occasionally drop the king).

The last spade is then ruffed out and dummy's remaining club is ruffed in the closed hand. West will refuse to overruff, but declarer gets out with a trump, and it matters not who wins it, the contract is made.

Historic Elm Felled

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 2 (AP)—The giant Lafayette elm tree on the statehouse plaza was cut down yesterday because it was decaying and a threat to public safety.

The 132-year-old tree was planted in 1825 by the Marquis de Lafayette, French hero of the Revolutionary War.

The tree was one of the largest in the world.

It was a landmark of Concord.

It was a symbol of the city.

It was a reminder of the past.

It was a source of pride.

It was a part of the city's history.

It was a treasure.

It was a legacy.

It was a gift.

It was a blessing.

It was a miracle.

It was a wonder.

It was a feat.

It was a triumph.

It was a victory.

Garrett County Decides To Buy Vote Machines

Shoup Firm Gets Contract For 36

A positive move to get voting machines for Garrett County for the November 6 general election was taken yesterday afternoon when the Board of County Commissioners, meeting in Oakland, voted 2-1 to order 36 machines from the Shoup Machine Company of Philadelphia, Pa.

The commissioners will enter into a contract with the Philadelphia firm if the offer of approximately $50,000 for the 36 machines, made by the company last winter, still prevails, according to H. D. Swartzentruber, board chairman.

Action Stayed

A dispute between the Board of Election Supervisors and the county commissioners apparently had stymied all action on the voting machine purchase.

The two Republicans on the election board, William L. Gibson and Francis W. Sanders, have consistently favored purchasing the devices from the Automatic Voting Machine Company of Jamestown, N. Y., the company from which Allegany County purchased its 103 machines. Their view was shared by Ervin A. Roth, a county commissioner.

However, Swartzentruber and A. C. Brenneman, county commissioners, and William D. Treacy, Democrat member of the election board, favored the Shoup bid, which they contended was the low bid.

Even Chief Judge George Henderson of the Fourth Judicial Circuit had to decide in a case heard by him that the situation had reached an impasse and the only way out was for someone to change his mind.

Legal Question

In the last several days the question as to whether a paper ballot election in Garrett County would be legal has arisen. The General Assembly had called upon all counties to have voting machines in use by November 1956.

Swartzentruber said last night that was one of the reasons the decision was reached to order the machines. Brenneman moved for approval of the contract and Swartzentruber seconded it. Roth voted in the negative.

Some 10 days ago the county commissioners were informed that delivery of the machines would start 24 hours after Shoup gets the order.

Mr. Work was a past president of the Western Maryland Association and was a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers. He also was a member of First Presbyterian Church, and of the Lions Club.

News Cartoon Wins DAV National Contest Award

Joseph Delaney, Times-News cartoonist, has been awarded first prize in a nationwide cartoon contest sponsored by the Disabled American Veterans. The prize-winning cartoon, which appeared in The Cumberland News, is reproduced above.

By winning the 1956 contest, Delaney became the first artist in the 10-year history of the DAV award to win it two years in a row. His 1955 entry also was first-place winner.

Second prize in the competition went to John Fischetti, famous nationally syndicated cartoonist for NEA Service. Jim Morgan of the Spartansburg, S. C., Herald-Journal won third prize.

The contest is sponsored annually by the DAV to encourage newspaper cartoonists to depict the problems and hopes of disabled veterans. Top award carries a cash remuneration of $250. Delaney's cartoon, along with others submitted for the contest, was displayed at the national DAV convention at San Antonio, Texas. In addition, the local artist's work will be distributed for reprint to newspapers throughout the country.

A native of Frostburg, Delaney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Delaney, 216 East Main Street, Frostburg. He spent two years in an Army Paratrooper outfit during World War II, with service overseas. After the war he attended the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, then went to work with a lithography concern in Canton, Ohio. When the Korean War started, Delaney was recalled to service with the Paratroopers.

In 1952 he joined the Times-News staff as artist and cartoonist. He lives in Frostburg with his wife, the former Elsie H. Hunter, and their four children.

Phone Service Is Normal As Strike Begins

Telephone operators began picketing telephone offices in the Cumberland area yesterday as a result of a contract dispute.

The strike had little effect upon service here, as dial equipment serves most of the communities, and supervisory personnel took over the handling of inter-city toll calls.

Service was reported normal last night, and C & P officials said they hope to maintain normal service unless the volume of calls increases.

Pickets were still stationed at Central offices here and in Frostburg last night.

Members of the Maryland Telephone Union, Inc., an independent union, walked off their jobs at 10 a. m. to enforce demands for a flat $4.50 a week pay raise and adjustment of geographic wage differentials.

Many of the 90 operators here went to Baltimore yesterday to attend a meeting called by the union.

W. Griffin Morrell, C & P vice president, said that in Cumberland the company has offered to increase basic wages for operators by $2.50 a week, raising the top rate for operators to $61 a week, and has offered to make other concessions to the union demands. He added bargaining has been under way since August 6 and that every effort has been made to reach a fair settlement.

Ten persons who joined the one-gallon club are Mrs. Edna Knepp, John Drummond, Genevieve Lapp, Harry A. Fuller, Vivian Bennett, Jackie Johnson, Thomas Hutchison, David Dorman, Richard Fuller and Beulah Wolford.

Members of Troop No. 42, Boy Scouts, sponsored by First Methodist Church, assisted in dismantling the equipment and loading the truck.

This work was done as a part of their work for the "Citizenship in the Community" merit badge.

Big Truck Spills On Wineow St. Blocks Traffic

A tractor-trailer, swerving to avoid a speeding automobile, upset and spilled its cargo of empty bottles on Wineow Street early today. The driver was unhurt.

Police said the Charlton Brothers truck was headed uptown when a car bearing West Virginia tags flashed by in the opposite direction, forcing the truck and a taxi onto the sidewalk.

The jolt was too much for the tractor-trailer, and it flipped over on its side, blocking one lane of traffic. The accident happened at 12:20 a. m.

Judge Prescott Appointed To Appeals Court

Will Represent Western Counties

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin today announced the appointment of Judge Stedman Prescott of Montgomery County to the vacancy on the Court of Appeals created by the recent resignation of Judge Edward S. Delaplaine.

Judge Prescott is now chief judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit and has been a Circuit Court member since 1938. A Democrat, he has been elected to the bench twice, once without opposition.

He is the third man and the second Democrat McKeldin has appointed to the State's highest court. The Court of Appeals has five members.

Judge Prescott, who will represent the state's seven western-most counties on the appeal court, makes his home in Rockville. He will stand for election for a full 15-year term in 1958.

He was among the seven persons recommended to the governor as well qualified for the position by the Maryland State Bar Assn. There was a representative of each of the seven counties in the Third Appellate Circuit on the list.

Another of the nominees was Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert of Howard County.

During the period between Judge Delaplaine's announcement last month that he would retire Oct. 1, and McKeldin's announcement today, Allegany County leaders urged the appointment of their State's Attorney, Paul M. Fletcher of Cumberland.

Divers Joining In Search For Missing Man

Divers of the Patuxent Naval Air Test Center plan to join in the search this morning for the body of a former Frostburg area man who is missing and presumed drowned in the Patuxent River after his boat was found washed ashore near Solomons yesterday.

The victim is William L. Shriver, 28, an inspector for the Tidewater Fisheries Commission. Shriver took out the 14-foot outboard runabout on Monday and was expected back by sundown.

The craft was discovered about 4:40 a. m. yesterday by Inspector Roy Rafter who was assigned to the boat as commander with Shriver as his crew.

Searchers began dragging the mouth of the river near a water-front ice plant where the boat washed ashore.

State Trooper Donald Gibson and sheriff's deputies found all the gear intact but noticed the craft had been damaged. They believe Shriver was jolted from the boat when it struck something.

Shriver and his wife, the former Hazel Dean of Borden, left the county last February shortly after the birth of their youngest daughter, Beverly Ann. They have another daughter, Eileen, 4, and have been residing at Solomons. He is a son of Frank and Margaret (Blank) Shriver, who live at Borden.

State To Be Asked To Provide Training For Handicapped Tots

The Legislative Council will be urged to consider plans for providing a training program for pre-school handicapped children of Maryland, according to State Senator Charles M. See.

The Allegany County legislator is a member of a special study group set up by the Legislative Council to study the problem.

Senator See said the committee will meet October 17 to prepare its report and to make a recommendation.

The committee, he said, is agreed there is need for training handicapped before school age, so they will not be so far behind other children when they enter school.

Organizations which deal with the problems of the handicapped, Senator See said, were agreed of the need and of the value of a special program.
